THE FOLLOWING NOTICE is issued regarding the conditions under which postal articles may be sent to and from the field Post Offices which will be opened to serve the troops during the forthcoming Northern Army Manœuvres near Delhi, in December, 1912.

ARTICLES FOR FIELD POST OFFICE.

Mode of addressing postal articles :—
Articles posted for delivery from Field Post Offices should be addressed as follows :—

X. Y.
(Regiment, Battery, Staff Appointment, Brigade or Department.)
Westland / Eastland Army,
Northern Army Manœuvres.

No post town should be added to the address, and special care should be taken to specify clearly the Regiment (Infantry or Cavalry), Battery, Staff Appointment, Brigade, Division or Department of the person addressed. If a post town is added in the address, the article is very liable to be delayed. Postal Articles which cannot reach the Delhi Base Office till the 12th December, 1912, should not be posted for delivery from Field Post Offices.

WHAT MAY BE SENT.

All classes of Postal articles (Private and official) viz. letters, post-cards, newspapers, packets and parcels, both registered and unregistered, may be posted for delivery from Field Post Offices.

PRE-PAYMENT OF POSTAGE COMPULSORY.

Full pre-payment of postage on all articles is compulsory. Officers Commanding Corps proceeding to the manœuvres should warn the troops, followers, etc., to inform their correspondents of the necessity for fully pre-paying the postage on all articles.

DELIVERY.

Unregistered articles of the letter mail will be delivered through Regimental Orderlies. Registered articles of the letter mail and all parcels will also be delivered through orderlies in the absence of written instructions to the contrary from the addresses. The receipt of the person to whom a registered articles or parcel, is delivered, will be taken on a list against the entry of the article or parcel.

N. B.—Any person who does not wish his registered articles or parcels delivered through an orderly must give notice in writing to the Field Post Office by which he is served.

INSURANCE, V. P. POST AND MONEY ORDERS.

Postal articles cannot be insured for despatch to Field Post Offices, nor be sent to them under the V. P. system. Money orders will not be issued for payment by Field Post Offices.

ARTICLES FROM FIELD POST OFFICES. WHAT MAY BE SENT.

All classes of postal articles (Private and official) viz. letters, post cards, newspapers, packets and parcels, both registered, and unregistered, may be posted at Field Post Offices. In the case of all articles which are for delivery from other field post offices, full prepayment of postage is compulsory.

Articles cannot be posted under the V. P. system at Field Post Offices, nor will any insurance work be done.

MONEY ORDERS AND SAVINGS BANK.

Money orders will not be issued from field post offices, nor will Savings Bank business be transacted.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

Postage stamps (including post cards and embossed envelopes other than one anna Soldiers' envelopes) both ordinary and service, and British Postal Orders, can be purchased from any field post office.

N. B.—None of the above restrictions refer to the regular permanent post offices which exist on the field of operations. These offices will perform as usual all classes of postal work, and the troops may use them in connection with any kind of postal business which Field Post Offices are not authorised to perform.

ROYAL ASIATIC SOCIETY.—A general meeting of the Bombay Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society was to have been held yesterday at the Town Hall, Bombay, but as there was no quorum the meeting was postponed to Monday, the 9th December.

FIRE AT DHARAVI.—Yesterday at about three o'clock a fire broke out in a hut at Dharavi, and before any aid could be rendered two huts were gutted. They belonged to Mr. Abdulla Dharavi and Mr Ismail Mahomed. In one of the huts was stored up a quantity of hides. The Mahim engine was on the scene and the fire was put out in a short time. The cause is not known. The damage is estimated at about Rs. 500.

THE ALL-SAINTS' GARDEN FETE.—The Sisters of all-Saints desire gratefully to acknowledge the valuable aid afforded by their friends in the work of their bazaar held on the 26th instant, in the School of Art gardens. Especial thanks are due to the Church of England Men's Society and their secretary, Mr. Johnson, who carried out all the details, to Mr. Fernandez for the loan of draperies, and to Dr. Faulkner for his kind co-operation in the concert. The proceeds of the sales amounted to Rs. 1,350.

DHATURA POISONING.—Rama Vithu, a Hindu labourer, living at Dongri, was found lying unconscious on Gibbs-road on the 26th instant and removed to the Sir J. J. Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from the effects of dhatura poisoning. On regaining consciousness he said that a Mahratta aged about forty engaged him as a coolie at 3 p. m. on the 26th instant and to carry some articles from Walkeshwar. On arriving as the junction of Falkland and Sandhurst roads the man bought some sweets and gave a portion of them to the complainant. The complainant ate them and on Malabar Hill he became giddy and had no further recollection what occurred till he recovered consciousness in the hospital. He discovered, then, that a gold earring of the value of Rs. 6 was missing from his right ear. Luxman Shivram, also a labourer aged about 30, was found lying unconscious on Girgaon-road, suffering from the effects of the same drug. He was taken over to the G. T. Hospital, where he has been detained for treatment. He was not in a fit state of mind to make a statement.

AMUSEMENTS.

WILLISON'S CIRCUS.

New Attraction added to Maidania.

So popular was the circus, which was held in Maidania last year amongst its many visitors, that the management has very sensibly decided to have a similar attraction there this year. This has arrived and will be ready for its opening performance on Sunday afternoon. Last year a circus ordered by Indians was engaged; but the present one is more international in its character being American in origin, containing principally African and Indian animals, and with a Cosmopolitan staff. It is owned by Mr. Bert. Willison a showman who has not only spent practically his whole life in circuses, including the great Barmen and Baileys show in all parts of the globe but has been a pioneer in circus enterprise in many new and stranger places. During his career he has visited Australia, Africa, North and South America, Great Brition, the continent of Europe and the East, including China, Japan, Java, Siam, Burma, India, Ceylon and Arabia.

The circus comprises an excellent and varied collection of animals, and a talented troupe of artistes. Amongst the former are able-cats, (lynx like creatures from Nairobi) a pair of three months old lions, pretty little things about the size of fox-terriers which come from Broken Hill, Rhodesia ; two Russian bears, a troupe of six Bengal tigers which with two black Indian bears are put through a performance by Mr. Ragoul, a mule which is no bigger than a shetland pony and a fine specimen of the Burehall Zebra, which was originally selected to be included in the collection of South African animals to be presented to the King then Prince of Wales. Among the artistes are the Wild Fridays the sheepshooting feats, Madame Willison with trained ponies la Petite adeb trapeze artiste, Carl Wirth, pyramid pedestal performer, Miss Val Rose in rough riding and hurricane vaulting acts, and others. We are sure Willison's Circus will be very popular.

EXCELSIOR CINEMATOGRAPH.

The public appreciation of the effects of the Management to provide a really first class entertainment of a refined order, free from anything in the nature of films that may offend the susceptibilities of the greatest prude, has resulted in it being decided to give a larger performance and therefore, with effect from this evening, the first entertainment will commence at 6-30 instead of 7 o'clock. A very remarkable film, entitled "Her last performance" which includes the reciting item on the "Platform of death," will prove to be the chief attraction, based as it is on a powerful romance in which the overpowering effect of jealousy incites the deliberate commission of an act that causes the death of the lover under most tragic circumstances. "Snowball and His Pal" is a North American Drama and represents in a remarkable manner the sagacity of a favourite horse, whose consciousness of danger enables him to warn his master of it in time, to save his life. In one of the two comic films, "Foolshead as a Boxer" forms a series of events which are side-splitting, while on the other "It is he—yet it was the other", the interest of the audience is maintained in the blunders that result from mistaken identity. The Animated Gazette as usual completes the programme, which will entertain the audience for an hour and a half.

LIFE BEHIND THE SCENES.

Stage life has no doubt its advantages and attractions, but it has also its drawbacks and disillusions, and many a poor girl, lured by the glamour and glitter of the footlights, has found it a life of bitterness and humiliation. This is just what happens to Freda James, a talented young girl who takes to the stage as the only means by which to support her aged parents. The jealous rivalry of another actress, much more favoured by fortune than herself, leads the poor girl into many difficulties till she is driven to desperation and attempts suicide. It is not only professional rivalry between the two but rivalry in love likewise. How, Freda James, after a series of heart-breaking disasters, is finally rendered happy by a loving husband is shown in an enthralling drama dealing with the life led by theatrical folk. "All the World's a Stage" is the attractive title of this star film, which forms the leading feature of this week's new programme at the America-India Theatre, It is strongly acted and well executed, and ought to appeal to all.

It is a happy sign of the times that the hereditary class of artisans in the Madras Presidency are bestirring themselves to bring about the social and industrial advancement of the community. As custodians of craftsmanship which has been defied in the person of their patron saint, Visvakarma, they can do great good if they develop the exhibition of "Silpa Vastiee," which they propose to organise in connection with the Visvabrahmans Conference to be held at Tanuku on the 28th, and 30th December. Caste Conferences which end merely in laudatory speeches at the greatness of particular castes do little public good and many would be glad to see a revival of the hereditary skill and cunning of the hand for which the Indian artisan classes were justly famous in times gone by, and we would commend this side of their activities to their earnest attention.—"Madras Mail."

THE STEALTHY APPROACH OF KIDNEY DISEASE.

No disease is more stealthy in its approach than kidney disease. That is why it is so dangerous ; it may become deep seated before the danger is realised.

Therefore it is of great importance to recognise the warning symptoms, because in its early stage kidney disease is easily curable.

Pain in the back is a sign of kidney trouble. So are gravel, sediment in the water, and other urinary disorders, headaches, languor, puffy eyes. These are well-known symptoms of kidney trouble.

As the kidney grow worse serious disorders set in, such as rheumatism, dropsy, sciatica, stone, etc.

These disorders arise from the urinous poisons in the blood, which weak kidneys are unable to take out. The impurities stay in the system so long as the kidneys are unable to filter them out.

"EVERY PICTURE TELLS A STORY."

If you would be well you must keep your kidneys well. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills act quickly and directly upon the kidneys and bladder, helping them to flush out the body's waste and impurities. This medicine is solely for the kidneys and bladder.

"One day I was taken with such a stabbing pain in my back that I fell helpless to the ground," says Mrs. E. Riley, of 147, Parchmore Road, Thornton Heath, Surrey, England.

I could not move, and friends had to help me home. The doctor said I had sciatica and lumbago. I had to keep to bed for five weeks, unable to move without assistance.

"Now, however, I am perfectly well, thanks to my using Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. They soon did me good, gradually removing every trace of the sciatica and lumbago. (Signed) Emma Riley."

Over a year later, Mrs. Riley said :—"I am still keeping well; my health is due to Doan's Pills."

THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The King, on the conclusion of his visit to Viscount Iveagh at Elveden Hall on Nov. 8, proceeded by motor car to York Cottage, Sandringham.

The Queen, Queen Alexandra, the Queen of Norway, Princes Victoria, and Princess Olay left London for Sandringham. Their Majesties and the members of the royal family on arrival at St. Pancras remained on the platform for a time in conversation with Lord Claud Hamilton, chairman of the Great Eastern Railway Company, General Sir Dighton Probyn, Mr. Hyde (the general manager,) and Mr. F. G. Randall (the superintendent of the line). Their Majesties travelled in the royal train of the Great Eastern Railway Company, which was in charge of Mr. Randall, and left at twenty-five minutes to three for Wolferton. A large crowd assembled inside the station and cheered as the train left. On arrival at Wolferton at five o'clock the Queen proceeded to York Cottage Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria to Sandringham House and the Queen of Norway and Prince Olay to Appleton House where Queen Maud will celebrate her birthday later in the month.

The King had a day's duck shooting on Nov 9 in fine weather. Leaving York Cottage at 10 30 a.m. attended by his equerries, his Majesty drove to Wolferton Marshes, where he obtained good sport ducks being plentiful. The King returned to Sandringham shortly after four o'clock.

Queen Maud, accompanied by Prince Olay, paid a visit to Queen Alexandra at Sandringham House for lunch proceeding from Appleton House in a dogcart, which she herself drove.

On Nov. 10, in the morning, the King and Queen and other members of the royal family attended service in Sandringham Church, where the rector (the Rev. A. R. H. Grant) officiated, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. H. R. Gamble.

The King visited Sir Sigismund Neumann at Raynham, twelve miles east of Sandringham, on Nov. 11 and went shooting.

The King and Queen will go to Windsor on Monday next, and will remain there until, Nov. 25, when their Majesties will pay a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Portland at Welbeck.

In the House of Lords on Nov. 11 the Agricultural Holdings Bill was considered in Committee, and a number of amendments were dealt with. On Clause 3, which provides that nothing in the Act shall apply to a notice to quit given for certain purposes, the Earl of Malmesbury moved that the Act should not apply to a notice to quit to determine the tenancy of land in respect of which undeveloped land duty is 'charged. This was resisted by the Government on the ground that the case was already covered by the provisions of the clause. The amendment was carried, however, by forty to thirty-one. The Bill as amended was reported to the House.

The Executive Committee of the Bolton Liberal Association have decided to recommend Mr. Thomas Taylor, cotton manufacturer, as the party candidate at the forthcoming by-election. The Conservative Council have adopted Councillor A. Brooks as Unionist candidate.

At a meeting of the Birkenhead Liberal "Four Hundred" Mr. E. D. Morel, of the Congo Committee, was adopted as the prospective Liberal candidate for Birkenhead.

Sir William Bull, speaking at the Unionist reception at the Covent Garden Opera House on Nov. 13, said:—Any interruption of these proceedings by a speech would seem out of place, but as you ask for it I will say a few words. I consider that we in the House of Commons have been treated abominably. When the Government uses its majority to trample upon the rules, the Constitution, and the laws, then I say I was justified this afternoon in saying that Mr. Asquith was a traitor, (Cheers.)

Lord Robert Cecil, speaking at Bermondsey on Nov. 11, said that no doubt that they would be told in the Radical papers that the Government defeat was a snap division, or an accident, or something of that kind. That would be a very misleading account of what had happened. The Government had lost in reality the confidence of the members of the House of Commons as much as it had lost the confidence of the country. (Cheers.) He did not say that the effect of that defeat in the House of Commons would be the immediate resignation of the Government. He hoped might be so. (Cheers.) Whether they elected to patch their Home Rule measure up in some way or other, and go on or whether they decided that since they had, sooner or later, to meet their fellow-countrymen at a general election, there was no object in putting it off—whatever their decision, this was in reality the death-blow of the Government.

The Duke of Bedford discussed the course which the House of Lords ought to take with regard to the Home Rule Bill in a speech which he delivered at Bedford on Nov, 12. He pointed out that if the House of Lords exercised its powers of delay the Bill would come into force in May 1914, and if it did not, the Irish Parliament would assemble in September 1913. The House of Lords could therefore only delay the passing of the Bill for eight months—it could not reject it. In his view, the Lords should not take advantage of the Parliament Act to delay the Bill, for by so doing they would recognise the Parliament Act as part of the Constitution of the country. They should exercise the right of free speech denied to the Commons, and then stand aside and let the Government take the responsibility of bringing the Bill into operation eight months earlier. He could not see that by doing so the House of Lords could be said to have abandoned the Irish Unionists to their fate, since it could not save them from it, but only cause a delay of eight months. He was certain that all classes in Ulster were in deadly earnest, and they must insist on the Bill's being submitted to a general election. If the British Army were attempted to be employed to coerce Ulster it would be split from top to bottom, to the delight of all enemies of the empire.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, presiding on Nov. 12 at a meeting held in the London Opera House to urge the passing of the Criminal Law Amendment Bill in an effective form during this session, said they wanted Parliament to know that the nation was behind them in giving to the police and magistrates all necessary powers of inflicting punishments not only punitive but deterrent.

From all parts of England and Wales delegates have now assembled in London for the annual Conference of the National Unionist Association. Practically the whole week is given over to work for the cause. It began on Nov. 11 with the meetings addressed throughout the Metropolis.

Excise officers from all parts of the country met at the Waldorf Hotel, Aldwych, on Nov. 9, at the invitation of the National Customs and Excise Federation, "to protest against the conditions under which they have had to undertake work under the Insurance Act, and also against the conditions in the Department, resultant upon the attempts to carry out the amalgamation of the Customs and Excise services."

Mr. Masterman has informed Sir J. D. Rees, in reply to a question in Parliament, that the estimated cost to the Exchequer of State contributions, the State proportion of benefits and expenses of administration of approved societies and insurance committies, and the salaries and expenses of the National Health Insurance Joint Committee, the four Insurance Commissions, and the audit staff under Part I. of the Insurance Act for the year 1913-14, is £4,400,000. This amount, with the cost of the proposed new Exchequer grant for medical benefit (£1,650,00), makes a total of just over £6,000,000.

A demonstration under the auspices of the Women's Social and Political Union was held in Victoria Park on Nov. 10. Mrs. Flora Drummond said it was such demonstrations, together with the use of the hammer and destroying letters, which had brought the cause home to the people. The destruction of letters was a serious part of their agitation, though it was a disgraceful state of affairs that they had to do it. No matter what the public might say about letter destroying, they were going to do it even if they were killed for it. Their agitation was becoming so militant that the destruction of property was going to be one of their particular jobs in the future.

Evidence in opposition to the establishment of the proposed British Empire Trade Mark was given before the Dominions Royal Commission on Nov. 8 by witnesses representing the Manchester cotton trade and several of the leading manufacturing firms of Great Britain. Sir Edgar Vincent (deputy chairman) presided, and the other Commissioners present were Sir H. Rider Haggard, Mr. T, Garnett, and Mr. W. Lorimer (United Kingdom), Mr. D. Campbell (Australia), the Hon. J. R. Sinclair (New Zealand), and the Hon. E. R. Bowring (Newfoundland).

Lord Dartmouth opened on Nov. 13 a new wing of the Wolverhampton and South Staffordshire General Hospital, erected by the townspeople at a cost of £8,000 as a memorial to King Edward. It forms the first section of a reconstruction scheme, the estimated cost of which is £60,000. Mr. William Smith, a working man, handed to Lord Dartmouth a cheque for £1,000 raised by working men of the town and district.

The worst gale known for many years has prevailed in North-east Yorkshire since Sunday, and on Nov. 13 a heavy downpour of rain occurred. Considerable damage is reported. Hundreds of acres in the Molton district are flooded and the rivers have overflowed. In one or two places nine feet of fresh water was registered in the river Derwent at Malton on Nov. 13, while ten feet of flood were recorded in the river Rye at Howe Bridge. At the latter place the river rose six feet in one day. Both these rivers are still rising. A snowstorm passed over Derbyshire, and the hills for miles are covered with snow.

Councillor Robert Kirk Inches was on Nov. 8 elected Lord Provost of Edinburgh for the next three years. The new Lord Provost is the head of a firm of jewellers and a native of Edinburgh, with the municipal life of which he has been prominently associated since 1900.

The Council of the Royal Scottish Geographical Society have resolved to award the Livingstone gold medal to Capt Amundsen and the Society's silver medal to Capt. Mikkelsen.

Lord Rosebery attended on Nov. 8 the first meeting of the Town Council of Greater Glasgow for the purpose of making the formal presentation of the mace which he has given to the Corporation. At a luncheon following the presentation ceremony Lord Rosebery said that he had no connection with politics of any kind, but if he ever joined any political association or league it would be one for the suspension of all legislation for a period of two years. (Laughter and cheers.) He sometimes wondered that the members of the House of Lords, as their numbers and impotence increased—(laughter)—did not take to municipal life. They had plenty of peers in Lanarkshire, men of ability and of large sympathy with their kind, who would find an infinitely greater reward in mingling with the municipal life of Glasgow than in going up to assist in a meeting of Parliament. (Hear, hear.) The happiest recollections of his life were connected with a municipality—the London County Council. (Cheers.)

COLONIAL.

CANADA.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, consulting engineer of the Transcontinental Railway, interviewed at Edmonton, stated that the western division of the line would not be completed before 1915. In order to complete the railway in 1914 15,000 men would be required on the construction, while only four or five thousand were available. The Federation of Industrial Workers of the world had greatly delayed construction in British Columbia.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.

The estimated revenue of the Malay States for 1913 is about 4½ millions sterling, and the estimated expenditure about 5¾ millions sterling, of which about £900,000 will be absorbed by railways, and about a million and a quarter by public works.

NEW ZEALAND.

Goaded by taunts, the "arbitration' workers on Monday attacked the Federation strikers at Waihi, and in a general fight the strikers were outnumbered and badly worsted. On Nov. 12 there was further rioting. The arbitration workers rushed the hall of the Federation Unions, removed the strikers' placards, and hoisted the Union Jack. The Federation strikers fired two shots, seriously wounding a constable. The men with revolvers were nearly lynched. The Federationists have now been warned to leave the town.

The Waihi strike (which began on May 13) originated in dissatisfaction with an award of the Arbitration Court, and the Waihi Miners' Union consequently cancelling its registration under the Arbitration Act and joining the New Zealand Federation of Labour, a Socialist organization opposed to the Act. The engineers, however, being in favour of arbitration, seceded from the Miners' Union and formed a union of their own, registered under the Arbitration Act. The Federation miners thereupon declared a strike with the object of compelling the disbanding of the Arbitration Union.

FRANCE.

Another crime recalling in some of its features the murder and robbery at Chantilly on March 25, was perpetrated on Nov 8 evening at the post-office of Bezons a western village suburb of Paris At 8-50, while three women and a boy were making up the local mail a party of men entered and pointed revolvers at the persons in the office. The women and boy fled upstairs to the flat occupied by Mme Cartier the post-mistress and her husband who was reading his newspaper at the fireside. M. Cartier hastened downstairs to the post-office. Presently those above heard several reports of firearms They afterwards found M. Cartier on the floor of the post-office bleeding from several revolver shots In a few minutes he expired. Several arrests have been made.

The Council of Directors have decided the future uniform of the French Army, the object in view being to secure, as far as possible, the invisibility of the troops in the field. The Council adopted a grey-blue colour both for the long coat and for the tunic. The present kepi will be maintained, but it will be covered, until the present stock of headgear is exhausted, with waterproof material of the same colour as the coat. The red trousers will not be abolished, as the long coat of the French Infantry hardly allows them to be seen in the field, and they will also be partly concealed by the leather gaiters which are now patially in use and will in future be universally employed. The existing capulettes will be maintained, but will be covered by a less visible material in the field.

ITALY.

King Victor Emmanuel on Nov. 11 celebrated his 43rd birthday and the victorious end of the war by holding in the Bay of Naples a review of the fleet. The vessels which book part consisted of 12 battleships, four destroyers, and 17 torpedo-boats. Housetops, balconies, and terraces in Naples were thronged Great enthusiasm prevailed.

PANAMA.

In the case of Senor Mena, the Nicaraguan revolutionist held as a prisoner by the United States, the Supreme Court in the Canal Zone decided on Nov. 12 not to grant a writ of "habeas corpus" on the ground that Senor Mena is held by direction of the President of the United States, to whom Congress has given plenary power over the Canal Zone. The writ of "habeas corpus," therefore, exists in Panama by order of the President and can be repealed at his discretion.

PORTUGAL.

The Portuguese Parliament opened at Lisbon on Nov. 12. The Premier, Senhor Duarte Leite, declared that the end of last Session had seen the complete failure of the Royalist movement. Although the incursions had caused considerable expense and trouble, the Government was fully repaid by the results, as these showed that the Republican regime was now solidly established in Portugal. The Royalist conspirators having again taken refuge in Spain, the Portuguese Government had sent a complaint to the Spanish Government, showing that the Portuguese Royalists continued to plot in Spanish territory. The Brazilian Government then solved the difficulty by generously offering to harbour and find employment for the Royalists. This offer both the Spanish and Portuguese Governments gratefully accepted.

UNITED STATES.

John Schrank pleaded "Guilty" on Nov. 12 at Milwaukee to shooting Mr. Roosevelt. A Commission will be appointed to examine his mental condition.

THE MURDERED PREMIER.

How Senor Canalejas met his Death.

The city of Madrid was thrown into a state of consternation on Nov. 11 by the news of the assassination of the Prime Minister. The crime has aroused a feeling of horror among all parties.

Senor Canalejas had conferred with the King prior to a Cabinet meeting. Then, before proceeding to the meeting with his colleagues at the Ministry of the Interior, he drove to the Restaurant Chardi in the Carrera de san Jeronimo. Thence he walked unattended towards the Ministry of the Interior. He lingered for a moment to look at the books in the window of the Library of San Martin in the Puerta del Sol. Unseen by the Premier, a well-dressed young man approached him.

Without warning, the stranger fired a revolver point blank at the head of Senor Canalejas who fell to the pavement. Then the assailant tried to escape, but he was followed and overtaken by a man named Victor Galan Rey, whom he tried to shoot. Failing in this the assassin turned the weapon on himself and fired. He inflicted a wound on himself, but still lived.

The assassin was identified as Manuel Pardinas Sarrato, a dangereous anarchist. He was 32 years of age. He was said to come from El Grado, in the province of Huesca. Knowing that the Premier would pass through the square on his way to the Cabinet metting, Sarrato waited in the bar of a public-house near the Ministry. As Senor Canalejas approached Sarrato walked towards him and, when the Premier stopped at the bookshop window, calmly pointed a revolver at his head and fired. Policemen lifted the Premier and carried him into the Ministry of the Interior. He was still living, but a slight examination was enough to show that he was mortally wounded. A bullet, evidently the first one fired, had entered his brain. Senor Canalejas died a quarter of an hour later.

King Alfonso, who received the news by telephone from the Minister of the interior came at once to the Ministry. A large and excited crowd had gathered in the square, and received the King, who showed signs of deep agitation, with enthusiastic cheers. The Premier was dead before the King reached his side. Deeply moved, King Alfonso knelt in prayer for a brief space beside the body. The King conferred with the Ministers before returning to the Palace, and appointed Senor Garcia Prieto to act as Prime Minister until further orders. After the departure of the King the Ministers held a Cabinet meeting lasting till 12.30. The Infante Carlos arrived at the Ministry as the King was leaving it. The Minister of Finance was not present at the meeting of the Ministers, for on learning of the outrage, he fell into a swoon, which lasted some time, and he had to be conveyed to his house. The Ministers made no communications as to the nature of the decisions arrived at. The Bishop of Sian blessed the body, which remained in the central hall of the Ministry, surrounded by a number of prominent personages.

Senor Praxedes Zancada, Under-Secretary of the Prime Minister's Department, was entrusted with the task of conveying the sad tidings to the family of the murdered statesman, and the news was actually broken to the widow and children by Senor Saint Aubin, deputy and son-in-law to Senor Canalejas, and a heart-rending scene of grief ensued when the widow and children realised the horror of the event.

The judicial authorities proceeded to the first-aid station, whither the murderer was taken in the hope of eliciting some statement from him. An examining magistrate subsequently went to the scene of the assassination in order to collect evidence. Newspaper men were told by a magistrate that a 25 pesata note several silver and copper coins, and numerous documents, which have not yet been thoroughly examined, were found in the prisoner's pockets. His birth certificate is, however, among them. He appears to have come to Madrid from either Barcelona or Valencia—it has not yet been ascertained which.

It was decided to transform the hall of the Chamber of Deputies in which Senor Canalejas's remains are to lie in state into a chapelle ardente.

The announcement of the assassination was made in the Chamber by Senor Garcia Prieto, the acting Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs, who concluded a brief speech with the words; "Senor Canalejas died between his two loves—the people and books," an allusion to the fact that Senor Canalejas was looking at the window of a bookseller's shop when he was shot. The President of the Chamber paid a tribute to the illustrious man for whom the entire House entertained feelings of affection, and he vigorously protested in the name of the Chamber and Spanish society against the infamy of the assassination. He was convinced that the enemies of society would not triumph.

A good many golfers have probably had their curiosity aroused during the last few days by reports from America of a mysterious and nameless golfer, supposed to be an Englishman, who has been drawing crowds to the public courses around New York by his prodigious driving. He disguises himself, as it appears, by means of a black mask or, alternatively, by painting his face, and has so far succeeded in baffling the detective powers of enterprising reporters, who keep a weary vigil outside his bedroom door. Nor is this merely a masquerade for All Fools' Day, for the unknown—a term reminiscent of pugilistic challenges—has thrown down the gauntlet to all comers, and is to meet Macdermott, the open champion of America, for a very substantial stake,

The annual fair at Ramtek was visited by two hundred thousand of people. The main feature of the fair was the holding of a local exhibition, in which local products, especially all garden produce grown on land irrigated by the Ramtek reservoir, were exhibited. The exhibition was a great success and served an object lesson to the agricultural population, as it brought before their eyes the great possibilities of irrigation in these provinces.

It appears that the Amir has lately received a letter from Constantinople in which the Sultan expressed his personal thanks to His Majesty for the practical sympathy shown by the Amir and his subjects in desiring to contribute funds for the aid of the wounded and the poor in the Turkish capital. The letter was read out in a Durbar at Jellalabad and a fund for the purpose was at once opened.

The Agricultural Department in Burma appears to be labouring under many difficulties, not the least among them being the indifference alike of the educated classes and the villagers to agricultural improvements. "It is true that there is a certain demand for agricultural education, writes the Director of Agriculture in his latest Report, "and we get a few sons of "bona fide" cultivators who come with the definite intention of returning to the land, and without any ulterior motive. But the remainder, though protesting strongly to the contrary, come either in the hope of an appointment or with a view to getting a certificate which may, or may not, help them to obtain other situations." Burma is, of course, not peculiar in this respect, says the "Statesman." Almost throughout India the complaint is made that it is hard to attract the sons of land-owners or real cultivators to agricultural studies.

The General Traffic Manager of the South Indian Railway, Mr. T. J. McCloughin, who has gone to Colombo on a short visit to confer with the General Manager of the Ceylon Government Railway, Mr. G. P. Greene, interviewed as to the progress of the viaduct from Tonture, on the main land, to Paumben, said that it was progressing rapidly. A large number of the piers had been put in and the girders laid from both ends. A gap in the centre now only remained to be filled. At Danushkodi the northern pier which, with the southern pier, will from the terminus of the South Indian line, is practically completed, and work has been started upon the southern pier. The piers will be long enough to take the steamers which will ply on the routes. New lines are being run up to the piers and one set is already laid.

There were many facts concerning the Hughli Ferry Service, worth knowing. Its inauguration five years ago was due solely to Sir Frederick Dumayne. The fleet originally comprised seven steamers, each with a carrying capacity of 250. These were supplemented two years later by four larger vessels of a similar type, each with accommodation for 300 passengers. As the service grew in public favour it was extended, and at the present time, it embraces seventeen intermediate stations, besides Chandpal Ghat, and extends from Sibtola to Rajgunge, a distance of 12 miles. It carries. a daily average of 30,000 passengers, or ten millions a year, and it speaks volumes for the efficient working of the fleet that the Sibpur disaster is the first accident that has overtaken it. Until a year or two ago it was being run at a loss; now it shews a handsome profit. It is the biggest experiment of its kind ever made by a public body independent of municipal subsidies, and it is the only ferry service in the world, run solely for public convenience, that is paying its way besides bringing in a profit.

Judging by the list of candidates for election to the new Bengal Legislative Council, the composition of that body promises to be extremely interesting, writes the "Statesman." It will be seen that many of the men—stalwarts of the Congress—who held aloof from the elections three years ago, are now coming forward. Notable among these are Babu Ambica Charan Mosumdar, candidate for the Dacca Division District Boards; Babu Ananda Chandra Roy, Dacca Municipalities; Mr. J. Chowdhuri, Rajshahi District Boards; Babu Surendranath Banerjea, Presidency Division Municipalities; Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen, Presidency Division District Boards; and Babu Jatra Mohun Sen, Chittagong Municipalities. The introduction of this element into the Council—and the successful election of most of them is undoubted—is likely to have a material effect on the character of the debates. They are nearly all in the front rank of Bengal's orators, men who are not only able to deliver set orations, but ready in debate and capable of holding their own in reasoned argument. Such men are an acquisition to any public body, and it may be anticipated that the debates in the reformed Bengal Legislative Council will reach a high standard of efficiency and oratorical excell

DIVORCE.

In the Divorce Division on Nov. 11, before Mr. Justice Bargrave Deane, on the petition of Mr. William Harrison, a decree "nisi" was granted against his wife, Mrs. Ethel Henry Harrison, in which Sir Schomberg Kerr McDonnell was cited as co-respondent. The petitioner was awarded the custody of the three children of the marriage and the costs of the proceedings. Sir Schomberg McDonnell, K. C. B, has been Secretary to the Office Works.

A Working Housewife

Nervous Depression, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness—

A cheerful, bright way of looking at things, a brisk activity which easily enables her to do almost as much as two ordinary persons, are some of the immediate benefits Mrs. Parker derived from Phosferine. Like most hard-working mothers, Mrs. Parker never found time to look after herself, and, as is always the case, suddenly broke down under the strain of endless household activities. Sudden noises caused her to tremble in feeble distress, gloomy fears assailed her, neuralgia and sleeplessness tortured her nerves relentlessly, and it was from this depth of misery that Phosferine raised Mrs. Parker. That this immediate effect was achieved by two doses of Phosferine, and Mrs. Parker's cure made permanent by a continuance of the tonic, demonstrates that with the aid of Phosferine any husband can save his wife from innumerable distresses.

Positively Cured and Prevented.

Mrs. A. Parker, 3, Linden Grove, Nunhead, writes:—"I got into a fearfully low nervous state through working too hard and overtaxing my strength. Any loud noise or a sharp knock at the door would throw me into a state of trembling and helplessness. I was always imagining all kinds of evils, and worrying about trifles. Neuralgia racked me with pain day and night, and prevented me from obtaining any rest. I got so worn and dejected that I could have cried, out of sheer misery. My husband persuaded me at last to take some Phosferine, and the effect was simply marvellous; the pains not only ceased, but I have had no return since. It seemed more like magic than anything else that a few drops of Phosferine could produce such a change. I kept on with it, and I began to gain strength; the neuralgia disappeared for good, the nervousness, dejection, and worry left me, and now I feel quite well."—Nov. 17, 1911.

PARTICULARS.

1. This Company was formed in 1909, with a nominal capital of Rs. 2,00,000 for the purpose of manufacturing edible oils, vegetable ghee and other products from cotton seed.

2. The edible vegetable oils as well as ghee have become very dear of late and to meet the demand for lower value, mineral white oils, animal fat, &c., are freely resorted to as adulterants; pure vegetable oils and ghee are consequently very scarce and the refined cotton seed oil placed on Indian markets by this Company has been hailed as an unexpected blessing.

3. India annually produces about 15 lacs of tons of cotton seed. Of this about two lacs are exported to European Ports, chiefly to Hull, to be worked in the oil mills there; the remainder is either used as a cattle food or allowed to rot. This is a great economic waste. Experts agree that in feeding the whole seed to cattle, millions of rupees worth of oil is lost to the people, without any tangible return. In America, nearly 35 lac tons of cottonseed is crushed for oil, cake and hulls in about 800 mills. If only two-thirds of the seed grown in India be similarly treated, it would yield on an average about forty lac gallons of sweet edible oil to take the place of the much adulterated ghee, in addition to five lac tons of decorticated cake and an equal quantity of hulls to supplement the existing fodder and manure supplies of the country.

4. The Company has established a large Mill and a Refinery at Navsari. These have been equipped with the best machinery of the latest style. The process of manufacture are conducted under the direct supervision of the Company's European Expert, Mr. Alexander F. Yuill, who has had a thorough practical training of this business in American cotton seed mills. The products have been highly mentioned by experts like Dr. Mann and they all sell faster than produced. In fact, since the Company's Refinery began work in April last, upwards of 25,000 maunds of refined cotton seed oil has been sold; and yet it has been impossible to cope with the rapidly increasing demand for the same, though the factory is working day and night.

5. The industry is no longer in an experimental stage—at least so far as this Company is concerned. With sufficient capital and expert management, its success as a financial undertaking is now a foregone conclusion. The Directors have, therefore, deemed it advisable to make the necessary extensions and additions in the Company's Mills at Navsari, so as to obtain a maximum of production at a minimum of cost. With this object in view, it is now proposed to increase the Company's capital from Rs. 2,00,000 to Rs. 10,00,000 by the creation of 3,000 ordinary shares of Rs. 100 each and 2,000 cumulative seven per cent, preference shares of Rs. 250 each.

6. The following is a rough estimate of the Company's working based upon an annual output of 15,000 tons of cotton seed, which could easily be handled in the factories at Navsari after the proposed extensions have been completed:—

To Cotton seed	Rs. 10,50,000	By sales of refined oil, cake, hulls and other bye-products	Rs. 13,75,000
" Working expenses including salaries, coal, stores and office charges @ Rs. 9 per ton of seed worked	1,35,000
" Depreciation	30,000
" Agents' Commission... ...	25,000
Net profit	1,35,000
	13,75,000		13,75,000

Dividend on Preference Shares	Rs.	17,500
Surplus on Ordinary Share Capital of Rs. 2½ lacs	"	1,17,500
Rupees ...		1,35,000

In the above estimate the figures representing the working expenses, the percentage of products and sale prices are not theoretical but are based on actual results obtained in the Company's factory at Navsari. The results presuppose continuous production.

7. It is intended to raise at present only rupees five lacs, including the original capital of the Company by the issue of 2,500 Ordinary shares of Rs. 100 each and 1,000 preference shares of Rs. 250 each. Of these about 1,250 ordinary shares have been subscribed and paid up, and applications are now invited for the remaining ordinary and the preference shares.

8. The ordinary shares will rank pari passu with the old shares and will be entitled to participate in the profits of the Company from the date of payment of the respective calls thereon. The preference shares will be entitled to a cumulative dividend at the fixed rate of seven per cent. per annum on the amount for the time being paid up thereon from the date of payment of the instalments. In case of winding up they will be entitled to refund of capital with dividends in arrears in priority to the ordinary shares.

9. Application for shares must be made on the form accompanying these Particulars and must be sent to the Agents of the Company along with the necessary deposit. Where no allotment is made, the deposit will be returned in full, and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number applied for, the balance of the deposit will be applied towards the remaining payments.

Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association can be had or inspected at the Registered Office of the Company, Motilal Mansions, Hummum Street, Fort, Bombay, and all persons applying for shares shall be deemed to have full knowledge of their contents.

Forms of application for shares can be obtained at the Registered Office of the Company.

THE ROMANCE OF BUSINESS.

THE up-to-date author takes particular pride in discovering Romance in the most improbable places. He is enchanted if he can catch a glimpse of her stooping pinion when other more prosaic people have failed to observe her. He never tires of proclaiming to all and sundry, that the many obsequies which have been performed over her apparently lifeless form, have been premature, and that although she has very wisely adapted herself to the changed conditions of modern life, she is as hale and vigorous as ever. Minor poets and budding prose-writers have faithfully followed the lead given them by the illustrious few who first set the fashion, and have summoned up enthusiasm for the romantic possibilities of bicycles, machines, locomotives, and liners. They are as energetic in their pursuit of the true Romance, as is the detective of fiction who finds in every triviality an important clue. So indefatigable is their search that that we cannot help wondering why they have not run her to earth more often in the world of business, where, like Danae, she sits complacently amid a golden shower. The atmosphere of buying and selling, of commerce and greed and money-getting, might be thought dangerously unwholesome for such an ethereal personality, but nevertheless she loiters there in inexplicable contentment. The aspect of Romance, in the sense of amorous adventure in commercial society, has indeed been fully exploited. We have been given the love-stories of millionaires, the sorrows of pretty typists, and the humorous episodes of the sentimental office-boy, poor business men who have suddenly become rich, and wealthy ones who have stumbled into ruin, the tale has been told many a time, with the self-sacrificing or mercenary attitude of some particular damsel, as the point of interest upon which the plot turns. But upon the adventure itself, apart from its sentimental complications, how few have expatiated. One would have thought that the glamour of a great fortune, the excitement of the swift acquisition of immense wealth would be sufficient to stir the most sluggish imagination, without requiring the added interest of a love-affair to make it saleable. No doubt there are excellent commercial reasons for the introduction of the amorous interlude, our novelists are not merely subject to an affliction like that of Mr. Dick, who could not keep King Charles' head out of the conversation. If the public likes a flavour of sentiment, the requisite seasoning must be supplied, but there is surely a market for a great novel or epic dealing with modern finance, from which the commonplaces of the lover's infatuation may be excluded.

We must, indeed, be dense if we fail to understand that this fervid pursuit of wealth which is sometimes condemned as being sordid and unworthy, is really the outcome of just such an impulse as that which drove forth the adventurers of Elizabethan days, and urged them to the chase of some fat galleon heavy with Spanish gold. Romance was there, and it is with us to-day, and if to some the quest itself was more to be desired than the actual doubloons, who shall say that this has ceased to be so, and that the wealthy financier loves the security of a comfortable income better than the toil and hazard of amassing the capital which it represents? Not only are the careers of these modern buccaneers as interesting as the stirring adventures of former days, but the experiences of business men of a less predatory type are also fraught with romance. It would be difficult to imagine a personality more æsthetically satisfying than that of a lonely alien youth wandering about the streets of New York, trying to sell the half-dozen flutes which were his stock-in-trade. A novelist with a thousand types from which he could make a selection could not hit upon a more picturesque figure than that of this German boy with his flutes, offering his humble wares to heedless passers-by. The lad was called John Jacob Astor, and his commercial career, which began in 1785, was one of honesty and industry. He died in 1848, leaving twenty million dollars. Jay Gould went to New York with a valuable commodity for sale, an idea. He was seventeen years of age, and with the characteristic confidence of youth he believed his idea to be a good one. So it proved to be, the mouse-trap which he had designed became a useful little dollar-trap, and from this small beginning grew the colossal Gould fortune which is one of the wonders of the age. The Rothschilds who have played such an important part in the politics of finance have had a romantic family history. The stirring times of the Napoleonic ascendancy gave the orginal Meyer Rothschild his chance, and according to rumour, his clever handling of money brought the fate of empires into his control. What a tremendous stake he must have played for in that exciting game, when the next move of the Emperor was a chance upon which no one could reckon with any certainty.

Possibly the manufacture of pills may strike one as being one of the most prosaic of professions, nevertheless one of our nineteenth century pill-makers employed a phrase which is now as surely a classic as any line of Shakespeare's. "Worth a guinea a box"! Is there an English-speaking person who is not familiar with that brief sentence? These words were first uttered by an enthusiastic old dame who came to a market-stall at St. Helens to purchase another box of pills from the young man who compounded them. In a few years a factory which had cost £30,000 to build had replaced the humble stall, while the old woman's felicitous phrase was on every hoarding and advertisement-page, helping Thomas Beecham to garner his gold. When we read these stirring records of commercial adventure, of great fortunes amassed in a few years, we feel that they are not less wonderful than bygone tales of Eldorado and the Philosopher's Stone. To each of us at least remains the fascinating possibility that some day friendly Fate may confide to us the magic "open sesame" that will set wide the door beyond which, piled ceiling high, the glittering treasure lies, awaiting a claimant.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE. Is the threatened revolt among the rank and file of the Government coming at last? It was promised weeks ago, and more than one authority predicted that it would show itself when the Home Rule Bill came to be discussed in committee. Party loyalty, however, saved the Ministry in that matter; but in the brief account, furnished by Reuter, of the discussion on the procedure to be adopted in the case of the Welsh disestablishment measure, some Liberal members, we are told, joined with the Opposition in the claim that the time allotted by the Government is inadequate for the committee stage of the Bill. This gives us two grounds of discontent. As we all know how many Liberal members are not in sympathy with the scheme by which the Welsh Church is to be despoiled. They have said so openly indeed, so definite is their dislike that promises of compromise and amended financial proposals have been spoken of. But we are glad to see that some members are also taking a stand against the arbitrary methods employed by the Ministry. The stifling of debate on the Home Rule Bill was scandalous in an elected House, and ignoring this fact the Prime Minister proposes to adopt the same procedure in respect of the Church measure. The leader of the Opposition made a vigorous speech, denouncing the tactics of the Government but more impressive we think was the Liberal objection to them. We do not believe that any Government which makes honest attempts to do its duty should be embarrassed for merely party reasons; we have no sympathy with the so-called "snap division" generally engineered as a party manœuvre; but the present Government in the rush to secure the passage through the Commons of two great controversial measures has overstepped all limits of parliamentary decorum and no fate can be too bad for it. We welcome the indications that the rank and file of the Government are beginning to see where their leaders are taking them, and trust the warning contained therein will have effect.

A MUTINY VETERAN. COLONEL GEORGE CURZON, whose death is reported by Reuter, was a scion of the Curzon, whose chief holds the Earldom of Howe originally won for distinction in the naval service by the celebrated Admiral Howe. Our late Viceroy belongs to the elder branch of the family who were created Barons Scarsdale at the beginning of the reign of George III. The younger brother of the first Lord Scarsdale was subsequently created Viscount Curzon, and from his son who married the only daughter of the great Admiral, are descended the Curzon-Howes. The late Colonel who was seventy-six had at the beginning of his career come to India in the second Battalion of the well-known Rifle Brigade and served in the campaigns of the mutiny with distinction. He not only took part in the action at Cawnpore, when that place was taken by our troops soon after the infamous deed of Nana Sahib, but was also present at the siege and capture of Luck, now. He assisted Sir George Yule, then Commissioner of Bihar, in his vigorous operations against the mutineers in Bhagulpur and other parts of his division. Colonel Curzon was then stationed at Darjiling, and with a small body of Europeans and Eurasians he ran to his aid. In 1858 he was at Jalpaiguri with the 52nd. Light Infantry and was called in again to assist Yule, but his party of European and Gurkhas were misled by false information and could not be of much avail. He then took part in the famous campaign in Central India of Sir Hugh Rose and took part in the battles of Gelonbe and Calpel which closed those brilliant but protracted operations which reflected so much credit in all concerned and especially on the chief who became our Commander-in-Chief in Bombay. Colonel Curzon then left India, in which he did not serve further. His regiment the 2nd Life Guards was subsequently engaged in Egypt, during the troubles created there by the late Arabi Pasha's revolt and took part in Lord Wolseley's brilliant victory of Tel-el-Kebir.

ANGLO-INDIAN EDUCATION. BISHOP ROBINSON of the Methodist Episcopl Church of America has, in the course of a long career in this country, acquired an intimate knowledge of the Anglo-Indian and Domiciled European communities, and no doubt has had ample opportunity of studying their problems and difficulties. We do not think, however, he was altogether discreet in the address he delivered at Bangalore on Thursday. In the course of that address he is reported to have said:—"The protestant youth cannot be developed morally and religiously to the best advantage in non-protestant schools, however, excellent these may be in various other respects. At the bottom of much of the flabby religious life of the European and Anglo-Indian sections of the community lies the strange indifference on the part of Protestant parents as to the religious influence under which their children are educated." We think narrow sectarianism of this sort is regrettable. During the past ten years we have heard so much of the education problem that we should have thought that whatever section of the church makes itself responsible for education, and provides educational facilities, the effort would be welcome. It is possible to agree with Mr. Robinson that all the Churches should do their part in educational work, but why so invidious a distinction should be made between Catholic and Protestant education is difficult to understand. We have no wish to beat the drum for any particular school of religious thought, but when all things are considered, we think it is only just to recall how deep a debt the non-Indian communities owe to Roman Catholic education. Even now we doubt whether any other church displays such splendid devotion in the solving of this important problem, and we regard it as particularly graceless that reproach should be suggested, as there cannot be any doubt, it is suggested in Mr. Robinson's address.

TREATMENT OF SOLDIERS. WE suffer more for our indiscretions than for our sins, and the officer responsible for the absurd order that British soldiers shall not be served at the Maidania restaurant bar will no doubt realize this fact in due course. "Indignant" set out the grievance pretty clearly in a letter, which we published yesterday, and he makes out a strong case for reconsideration of the order complained of. Our correspondent concludes by saying that "poor Tommy has to betake himself off to Colaba or wherever he may be quartered, feeling slighted, with his feelings outraged at the slur cast upon him and his position as a soldier. One can understand drinks being refused to men under certain conditions, but when men are orderly and well behaved it is an outrageous thing that such a degrading restriction should be enforced." With this we entirely associate ourselves, and would add that there are places in Bombay where soldiers are served which are undesirable in more senses than one. In our view it is absurd that bars conducted in respectable and cleanly surroundings should be placed out of bounds, so to speak, while others in which there is more temptation to excess, and more risk of evil, should be open. This is not merely a question of sentiment: it is a question of fair play to the men, and also of utility; and we trust, in view of the many strong expressions of feeling which the incident has elicited, the order will be cancelled and the restrictions removed. It is only just to state in dismissing the matter that the management of Maidania are in no way responsible for the order complained of.

THE OFFER OF THE MALAY STATES. As might have been expected the offer of the Malay States to present to the Imperial Government a battleship costing £2,250,000 has come in for some criticism. We do not generally like the critic, who happens to be that prince of agitators Mr. MacCallum Scott; but at the same time must admit there is some force in what he says, speaking from the strictly technical point of view. He writes in a Home contemporary as follows:—"Surely this is, on constitutional grounds, a most dangerous precedent to introduce. We may rightly accept with gratitude the spontaneous offerings of the self-governing Colonies who enjoy the control of their own taxation. But the natives of the Crown Colonies and Protectorates have no control over their own taxation. This battleship is not a gift from the Federated Malay States. It represents taxation of the inhabitants of these States by the Imperial Government for the purpose of relieving the taxpayer of the United Kingdom. The Federal Council of the States which has voted this sum is wholly under the control of the Colonial Office. . . . This announcement represents the reintroduction of the systems of taxing Crown colonies and Protectorates for Imperial purposes which led to the American revolution." There are similar objections, set in another form, to a contribution of the same character being made by India, and this being so can scarcely be criticised in this country. Of course it may be found later on that the Government of the Malay States obtained the sanction of popular opinion in which case the objections will loose all their force.

THE Bombay, Act XIII, of 1912, to amend the Indian Limitation Act 1908, has received the assent of his Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General.

ENGLISH POLITICAL AND SOCIAL LETTER

MR. ASQUITH'S LEAD TO EUROPE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.

There is nothing quite so wonderful as latter-day politics. Mr. Asquith is being called a traitor, in the House of Commons, by the same men who are overwhelming him with praise for his admirable speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet. At the moment when the Prime Minister spoke the International situation was full of anxiety mainly owing to the uncompromising attitude of Austria vis-a-vis Servia's claim for a window on the coast of the Adriatic. The speech was chiefly directed to the Government of the dual monarchy and in a less degree to the other two partners in the Triple Alliance. His warning—for in spite of his unexceptionable language it was just as much a warning as Gladstone's famous "Hands off Austria"—appears to have had the desired effect; at any rate everything points to a considerable easement of the European crisis. If the tension which existed a week ago, and which it seems led our Government to take certain precautions, had lasted another forty-eight hours, there might have been one or more sensational resignations from the Cabinet.

THE PARLIAMENTARY DEADLOCK.

What is a snap division? Ordinarily one understands by that term a division in which the Government of the day has no idea that it is going to be beaten, or only knows when it is too late to whip up reinforcements. The Opposition deny that the sensational division of Monday afternoon can properly be called a snap one. It appears that from the Nationalist ranks members of the Government received a warning of the real state of affairs shortly before the division took place. How it was in these circumstances that neither from the Liberal nor from the Nationalist benches any members kept the debate from coming to an end too soon has not been explained. The incident shows that Governments should insist upon better discipline. It is the duty of the M.P's, especially now they are paid—some of them overpaid—for their services, to attend the sittings when such an important measure as the Home Rule Bill is under consideration, unless they are paired. Parliament is called in the Prayer Book the High Court of Parliament. What would be thought if one or more of the Judges of the Appeal Court were absent from the Bench while an important case was being argued? The cases are not, of course, precisely parallel but they are analogous. One Liberal, Mr. D.V. Pirie, voted against the Government, not for the first time, I believe. Mr. Hewins, M. P., speaking at Homerton on Monday evening, said it was known that on the Liberal side there was the greatest uneasiness about the financial provisions of the Home Rule Bill, and seventy to eighty Liberal Members had presented a memorial to the Prime Minister, asking for them to be altered. He thought that that uneasiness led to the deliberate abstention of Liberal members from the House. At any rate the opposition were quite within their rights in snatching this victory—everything is fair in love, politics and war—though, perhaps, it is a pity that they did not put forward a less stultifying amendment. Mr. Asquith is certainly in a hole. How will he get out of it?

MR. CHURCHILL.

I observe that Mr. Churchill is still shadowed by two "plain clothes men." I happened to be in Parliament Street on Monday just after the sensational defeat of the Government had caused a sudden adjournment of his Majesty's faithful Commons, and saw him walking away from House followed by his attendant detectives. I noticed that the latter lessened the distance between him and them as he turned into Downing-street. Possibly they thought that some Suffs might be lurking in the doorways there. Granted the cares of office, but he ought not to stoop more than Gladstone did after he had attained the age of three score years and ten. If it is not affectation, as I half suspect, Mrs. Churchill ought to see to this. It is generally admitted that the First Lord of the Admiralty has displayed great magnanimity in regard to the most disagreeable incident of the scenes in the House of Commons. The book thrown at Mr. Churchill by Mr. R. McNeill, the Conservative member for the St. Augustine's division of Kent, struck the right hon. gentleman on the side of the face and caused a bruise. Naturally Mr. Churchill was at first rather indignant, and it looked to spectators as if, but for the dissuasions of Mr. John Burns and another member of the Government, the First Lord would have given Mr. McNeill a Roland for his Oliver. As was to be expected, Mr M'Neill took the earliest opportunity of making the amende honorable. Here is his apology:—"I desire, in a few words, Mr. Speaker, to give something in the nature of a personal explanation of an incident which occurred after the adjournment of the House last night. You, Sir, had left the Chair, and the Mace had been removed, but a considerable number of members remained in the House. Political feeling was very high, and taunts were exchanged between members upon both sides of the House. Under the influence of a momentary loss of self-control, I regret to say that I discharged a missile, which struck the First Lord of the Admiralty. As soon as the heat of the moment had passed, I fully realized my action was entirely reprehensible and returned to the House at a later hour, and, with the assistance of the President of the Local Government Board, I endeavoured to find the first Lord in order that I might express to him my regret and ask his pardon. I was unsuccessful in finding him, and I am anxious to take this, the first, opportunity of saying how extremely I regret having lost my temper, and of tendering to the right hon. gentleman and to the House a full and unreserved apology." Mr. Churchill replied:—"I thank the hon. gentleman for what he has said. I can assure him I have not, nor had I at any time, any personal feeling in the matter, and if I had any personal feeling the observations he has thought it proper to address to the House would have effectually removed it."

SIR FREDERICK PONSONBY.

Although a full week has elapsed since it was reported in a morning paper that Sir Frederick Ponsonby was the dark horse for the Bombay stakes, no official announcement on the subject has yet appeared. That the selection is unusual is perhaps not such a great drawback as is assumed in some quarters; the unlikely men in all spheres often prove the best, but I should have thought that a Colonial Governorship in the first instance would have been more suited to Sir Frederick Ponsonby. Although the present Government have not been very happy in their appointments as a whole, the choice of Sir George Clarke for the Governorship of Bombay did credit to their acumen. Let us hope that Sir Frederick Ponsonby will prove to be another exception to the rule. Apparently his promotion is to be taken advantage of to effect some other changes in the Royal entourage. When Lord Knollys accepted the post of principal Private Secretary to King George it was understood that the arrangement was only temporary. His long and faithful service entitle him to a position of greater freedom and less responsibility. Lord Stamfordham will succeed Lord Knollys and Major Clive Wigram who, is so well-known in India, takes the place of Sir Frederick Ponsonby as Assistant Private Secretary. The Hon. Derek Keppelis, it seems, to be the new master of the Household.

SIR S. SAMUEL, M. P.

The decision to refer the case of Sir S. Samuel, M.P., to a Select Committee of the House of Commons because the Law Officers consider that the question is one of difficulty and doubt has displeased the Opposition. They say that the Law Officers exist to settle questions of difficulty and doubt, and that the seat ought to have been vacated directly attention was called to the matter. One of the Conservative members who heckled Mr. Asquith on the subject on Monday, Sir Frederick Banbury, is a well-known railway director. Railway directors vote on railway bills in Parliament. Mr. Chiozza Money wanted the Prime Minister to say whether Sir F. Banbury's position was not the same as that of Sir S. Samuel, but before the hon. member had finished his sentence the speaker suppressed him by saying, "That question does not arise." Mr. Money had another chance later, when he asked the Prime Minister whether he proposed to introduce immediate legislation to amend the statute to render it effective by preventing directors and shareholders who draw profits from Government contracts from sitting in the House. Mr. Asquith admitted that the law appeared to operate unevenly and should, he thought, form the subject of inquiry. Sir S. Samuel is a partner in the Montagu firm as well as a member of Parliament. If the Committee decides that his seat must be vacated in consequence of the business transaction with the India Office, it follows, of course, that he must retire from the firm or the firm must forego the chances of again being employed by the Government to purchase silver.

THE DIVORCE REPORT.

Exactly three years have elapsed since the Royal Commission on Divorce and Matrimonial Causes was appointed. I venture to think that considerably, more than three years will apse before the whole of the recommendations are embodied in legislation, if ever they are. It may not even be easy to pass a Bill putting both sexes on the same footing as to the cause of action on which the Commissioners were unanimous, but the present Parliament will make the proposed change if it be given a chance. The Times ranges itself on the side of the minority in its expected recommendation—the recommendation of the Anglican Church—that "valid marriages" shall continue to be indissoluble, except for adultery. "We desire," says the leading journal, "to affirm at once in the clearest and most comprehensive terms our approval of the views of the minority and our dissent from those of the majority upon this vital issue," Perhaps the affirmation was hardly necessary. In opposing any "extension of grounds" the Times is adopting its traditional course in regard to all these fundamental reforms, although in this case the majority claim that the "great mass of evidence" is on their side. There will also be a fight on the questions relating to the publication of reports of divorce cases when, and if, it should be decided to give statutory effect to the Commissioners' recommendations. Practically all are agreed that discretion should be shown in reporting such cases, but if there were no newspaper reports there would be no more divorce cases.

THE WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

The White Slave Traffic Bill deals more gently with procuresses than procurers. In the House on Tuesday an amendment to provide that women as well as men who knowingly lived wholly or in part on the proceeds of the prostitution of others should be liable to be punished. It was, however, withdrawn. While the Home Secretary, Mr. McKenna, was defending the infliction of corporal punishment on male offenders, there were Ministerial cries of "Why not flog women?" The flogging of women was abolished in 1824. For over a hundred years no women had been flogged in this country; and there was no experience that it would be a useful form of punishment in such cases. A Radical member (Mr. Radford) said he hoped it would be a long time before the Home Secretary's epitaph came to be written; but when it was written it would be something like this:—"Under the influence of virtuous emotion he undid the work of Sir Samuel Romilly, and led his countrymen back to savagery." Referring to the support given to the flogging caused by members of the Episcopacy, another Ministerialist reminded the House that when Romilly was trying to reform our criminal law, which at the time made us the disgrace of the civilised world, his bitterest opponents were Bishops.

"WHAT IS A QUACK?"

We all know from the proverb, and some of us from painful personal experience, that doctors differ about the ailments of their patients. It seems that they also differ regarding the definition of the term "quack". A recent cause celebre has led to a lively controversy on the subject which was originated by Sir Rickman Godlee. He says:—"The man who, while ignorant of the rudiments of medicine, boasts that some simple remedy will cure a vast number of diseases and makes a fortune by its sale may justly be termed a quack. Sir R. Godlee does not call the homœopath a quack as some do, his tenderness being due to the fact that, while the followers of Hahnemann claim that like cures like, they do not hesitate to use, with the same object, the remedies which are employed by the orthodox practitioner, whose treatment they decry while boasting that they have discovered a more excellent way." He continues:—"A thoughtful visitor to the Homœopathic Hospital will find, as I have done, that it is a well-ordered institution: but he will be puzzled to discover any great difference between the methods of treatment there adopted and those employed in other hospitals; and yet this institution is supported by the public on the idea that it is devoted to the carrying out of a method of treatment quite different from that of orthodox medicine. The very idea of homœopathic surgery is grotesque. Orthodox medicine does not hesitate to listen to the teaching of the homœopathists, but it cannot be expected to open its arms to its professed opponents." Dr. Arthur G. Sandberg retorts that Sir R. Godlee must have been singularly unfortunate or unobservant during his visit to the London Homœopathic Hospital, in failing to discover any great difference between the methods of treatment there adopted and those employed in other hospitals; or are we to take it that these other institutions have so changed their methods that they are now approaching those in use at the Homœopathic Hospital?" Sir George Birdwood this morning makes an interesting

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION.

MILITARY MEASURES IN AUSTRIA.

Indications that Situation is Still Critical.

ALBANIA DECLARES ITS INDEPENDENCE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

VIENNA, Nov. 28.

In the Reichsrath, to-day, the Premier announced that three Bills would shortly be introduced relating to the supply of horses, the support of the dependents of soldiers in the event of mobilisation, and military transport. He emphasised the urgency of a speedy and smooth passage for the measures and requested the Parliamentary leaders to come to an understanding to facilitate this.

According to the Neue Freie Presse the Premier, in announcing the Bills, remarked that the International situation was unchanged.

The journal adds that the announcement of the Bills has made a great impression as showing that the situation is still critical.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.

The authorities, to-day, received a proposa from Sir Edward Grey for a conference of ambassadors to consider the questions of Albania, the Ægean Islands, and the Dardanelles. The authorities were unable, for the moment, to express an opinion on the project, which is understood to be rather in the nature of a suggestion than a formal proposal. This, however, does not imply that the attitude is unfavourable.

Dr. von. Bethmann-Hollweg's telegram was sent because the rumours of mobilisation were causing a run on the Municipal Bank at Koeenizsberg. The border provinces are especially liable to such scares.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

It is incorrect that Sir Edward Grey has proposed a conference of ambassadors to consider the question of Albania, the Ægean Sea and the Dardanelles, as stated in Berlin yesterday.

It is understood that the report was based on some remarks made by Sir Edward to certain ambassadors, with regard to the present cumbrous and dilatory inter-change of communications between the capitals, in which the suggestion was thrown out that some form of international body, which could sift proposals, would be useful.

VIENNA DEMONSTRATION.

VIENNA, Nov. 29.

An extraordinary session of the Municipality has issued a manifesto to the Emperor that national and economic prosperity can only be vouchsafed to the State which maintains peace not by dishonourable weakness but by force. A crowd outside the building formed in procession singing the National Anthem.

The Burgomaster addressed them.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 29.

The fourth Duma has opened. The Octobrist, M. Rodzianko, was elected President. In his speech he said they must always aim at the welfare of the Fatherland for whose glory all were ready to offer their lives, should the clouds now darkening the political sky break in a thunderstorm.

INDEPENDENCE OF ALBANIA.

Declared by a National Assembly.

ROME, Nov. 28.

A message from Valona says that the Assembly of Albanian delegates has proclaimed the independence and neutrality of Albania and has constituted a provisional Government.

The Assembly will shortly send a Commission to the Governments of Europe to request their recognition of Albania.

Ismail Kemal Bey, president of the provisional Albanian Government, has telegraphed to the Italian Foreign Minister announcing that an Albanian National Assembly met at Valona and proclaimed the independence of Albania, and further constituted a provisional government, charged to defend the existence of the Albanian peoples.

The provisional Government asks Italy to recognise the Albanians independence.

BESIEGED ADRIANOPLE.

The Bulgarians announce that the lines around Adrianople are constantly drawing closer, and that the Bulgarian troops are now within a thousand metres of the city.

They state that the Consuls have hoisted flags to prevent the Bulgarians from firing on the Consulates.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 28.

The Plenipotentiaries, yesterday, continued their meeting until late in the evening and resumed it early to-day.

The foreign naval contingents are gradually re-embarking at Constantinople.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

Pourparlers at Bagtchekeui continue, but nothing concrete has yet been effected. Nazim Pasha is entertaining the delegates in a sumptuous manner with meals from a Constantinople restaurant. Government circles in Sofia are confident that an armstice will be concluded in a few days.

CAPTURE OF DURAZZO.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

The Servians have captured Dibra. They also occupied Durazzo at mid-day yesterday. No resistance was offered.

The Austrian Lloyd steamer "Grafwurmbrand" thereupon left with refugees.

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

Baron Hoetzendorf, Austrian Army Inspector, has arrived at Bukharest, to confer with the Rumanian Chief of Staff.

BIG BULGARIAN CAPTURE.

SOFIA, Nov. 29.

After a desperate fight near Demotika, two divisions of Turkish Bedifs surrendered to the Bulgarians. The prisoners include two pashas 252 officers and 8,879 men.

The Bulgarians also took several mountain batteries, two machine guns and one thousand horses.

SOFIA, Nov. 28.

The recruits of the 1914 class have been summoned to join the Bulgarian colours on December 3rd.

RED CRESCENT FUND.

The total sum collected was Rs. 3,867.

HYDERABAD RED CRESCENT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SOUNDERABAD Nov. 29.

An enormous crowd assembled at Chuderaghat this evening at a meeting of the local branch of the Red Crescent Society formed five weeks ago.

Hazril Jamal Uddin Effendi Bagdadi presided, and opened the meeting with an Arabic speech which was translated into Urdu. The secretary, Mulla Abdul Basetti Saheb, then read the report of the progress of the branch. Roughly Rs. 60,000, he announced, had been collected, and Rs. 53,00 had been sent to the Grand Vizier at Constantinople by wire and draft. Rs. 11,000 was collected at the meeting. Contributions were received also in kind, to the value of Rs. 10,000, which will be auctioned locally. Another meeting will be held in the public gardens a week hence.

RANGOON, Nov. 29.

To-day a remittance of Rs. 15,000, being the fourth instalment, has been forwarded by the Rangoon Turkish Relief Fund Committee to London, in aid of the British Red Crescent Mission.

A GENERAL'S DISGRACE.

Suicide Before King Ferdinand.

The special correspondent of the "Zeit" at Sofia is responsible for the following dramatic account contained in the Mail papers of King Ferdinand's rebuke to one of his generals, and of the general's suicide on parade.

Angry comments are whispered in Sofia, the correspondent says, at what is declared to have been the useless sacrifice of the First and Sixth Bulgarian Infantry Regiments, which were decimated through a general having either forgotten to cover their charge by Artillery, or having given them a wrong direction in which to advance. With the first regiment is serving the intellectual elite of Sofia—artists, lawyers, actors and the chief business men—and the loss of life evoked the bitterest comments.

It is related that the general who made the blunder addressed the remnant of the two regiments after the charge, praising them for their heroism. King Ferdinand stood by and nodded approval.

When the general had finished speaking, the King said: "General, a word with you." He went up to the general, and before them all, stripped the epaulettes from the general's uniform with his own hand.

The general remained at attention for a moment, then saluting the King, took a few paces to the rear and shot himself.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SECUNDERABAD, Nov. 29.

The Bhiknur Cavalry Concentration will conclude to-morrow.

Yesterday the two cavalry brigades were exercised in a unique operation. A dragoon had lost his way whilst returning with a lame horse, and on the 27th instant Col. Wadeson, commanding the Concentration, decided on a search of the country and disposed seven regiments over a front of fourteen miles. The missing man was found seven miles south of the camp, little the worse for his experience.

CHURCH CONTROVERSY.

Fight in the Commons over the Welsh Bill.

CRITICISM BY LIBERALS.

Mr. Bonar Law and the "Veto of the People."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 29.

In the House of Commons, last night, there was a heated discussion regarding the allocation of time to the Welsh Disestablishment Bill.

Some Liberals concurred with the Opposition that fourteen days for the Committee stage was inadequate.

Mr. Bonar Law, in a most vigorous speech, declared that if the procedure to which Parliament was now subjected became permanent, the House of Commons as a Legislative Institution would be destroyed. He accused Mr. Asquith of breaking a pledge made during the debate on the Parliament Bill, that the Commons would not be deluged with legislation. He declared that the Government wanted to destroy the veto of the people.

Mr. Asquith denied a breach of his pledge.

The closure was carried by majority of 72.

An amendment moved by Mr. Lyttelton, declining to restrict discussion on the Bill, which had not been sanctioned by the country, was defeated by a majority of 74 amid Opposition cheers. Government majorities subsequently were about ninety.

The House is still sitting at four this morning.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

In a protracted sitting of the House of Commons this morning, Mr. Asquith agreed to extend the committee stage of the Welsh Disestablishment Bill by two days.

Numerous opposition amendments to extend other stages were defeated by majorities of over ninety.

Finally, the allocation of nineteen days to all stages was voted by 185 to 15, the result being greeted with Ministerial cheers.

The House adjourned at 5-30 a. m.

THE McCORMICK TRIAL.

Application for Revision Dismissed.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, Nov. 29.

Orders were passed to-day by the Full Bench of the Chief Court on the application of Fatima Bibee to revise the order of discharge passed by Mr. G. P. Andrew, District Magistrate, Mergui, in favour of Capt. McCormick, who was prosecuted at the instance of the complainant on a charge of raping her daughter, Aina, aged nine.

Three separate judgments were passed by Mr. Justice Hartnoll, Mr. Justice Ormond and Mr. Justice Twomey, the latter two concurring in Mr. Justice Hartnoll's judgment.

The Judges held that Fatima's and Aina's statements were untrustworthy, and there was no prima facie case against Mr. McCormick; also that there had been great delay on the part of Fatima, in making the complaint, which has not been accounted for. Their Honours could see no reason why Mr. Andrew should not have tried the case, and held that the allegation that Mr. Andrew had prejudged the case was unsubstantiated. The application was dimissed.

At the request of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Chief Court this afternoon forwarded to his Honour urgent copies of the judgment of the three judges of the Full Bench in the McCormick Case. The elaborate judgment of Justice Hartnoll occupied close upon one hundred pages of foolscap.

The Local Government will submit copies to the Government of India, who will forward them to the Secretary of State.

SUFFRAGETTE OUTRAGE.

Thousands of Letters Destroyed.

AN INGENIOUS METHOD.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 28.

Corrosive fluid and rags soaked in paraffin have been found in a number of pillar-boxes in the city and west end this evening.

It is believed to be the work of suffragettes. The police are actively investigating the matter.

LONDON, Nov. 29.

Thousands of letters were destroyed in the city alone by yesterday's suffragette outrage. Similar outrages were perpetrated at Birmingham, Nottingham, Newcastle, and elsewhere in the Provinces.

The raid was carefully organised at the busiest hour of the evening. The method was to post an envelope containing an uncorked bottle full of fluid, and when bags were emptied in the sorting-room, the contents burst into flame on exposure to the air.

THE DESTRUCTION OF LETTERS.

A demonstration under the auspices of the Women's Social and Political Union was held in Victoria Park on Nov. 10.

Mrs. Flora Drummond said it was such demonstrations, together with the use of the hammer and destroying letters, which had brought the cause home to the people. The destruction of letters was a serious part of their agitation, though it was a disgraceful state of affairs that they had to do it. No matter what the public might say about letter destroying, they were going to do it even if they were killed for it. Their agitation was becoming so militant that the destruction of property was going to be one of their particular jobs in the future.

MISS EVANS AGAIN DISCHARGED.

For the second time within a few weeks, Miss Gladys Evans appeared on Nov. 8, in the Northern Police Court, Dublin, to answer a charge that, being a convict on ticket of leave, she had failed to notify to the police her intended change of address.

The defence was that no evidence had been called to prove that Miss Evans had intended to leave the Dublin Metropolitan Police district.

The magistrate said that he could not find in the evidence anything to show that the prisoner was acting illegally, and he discharged her.

DACCA ARMS CASE.

Bengali Students refuse to Break Vow of Silence.

MANY CARTRIDGES FOUND.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DACCA, Nov. 28.

With reference to the discovery of ammunition in Dacca, a report of which was wired yesterday, subsequent enquiries have, it is understood, elicited the fact that the name of the arrested youth is Madan Mohan Bhowmick and his father's name is Kailasa Chandra Bhowmick. On receipt of a wire from his eldest son, Mr. Janini Das returned to Dacca from Mymesingh, and asked his second son, Girindra, why he was occasionally visited by friends with whom he held secret conversation. The latter is alleged to have refused to make a statement, saying that he had made a solemn vow not to discolse anything. Mr. Das ordered him to leave the house.

At this moment some eight or nine youths came to enquire for Girindra. Madan, who entered the compound, was arrested, while the others managed to escape, it is stated, by threatening Mr. Das' eldest son with a revolver.

From the early hours of the morning till evening the police guarded the house and allowed no one to enter or leave during the whole day. They were busy making a list of the articles found in the trunk. It is reported that about thirty seers of silver ornaments were found in the trunk and about five hundred cartridges. The police have seized some letters.

Both Girindra and Madan, it is understood, have made statements. They have been detained in jail under police escort. The Additional and City Superintendent of Police searched Madan Bhowmick's house at Dumani (in the jurisdiction of the Keranigunge police station). Nothing hasbeen learnt of the result. More searches are expected in the town.

LATER.

Two boys have been arrested, one being Girindra Kumar Das, who is a student of the Dacca College. Before the magistrate they refused to make any statement, saying that they had made a solemn vow not to disclose anything.

CALCUTTA SHARE MARKET.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Nov. 29.

To-day business on share market was on a restricted scale, with little enquiry for either coal or jute shares. Prices were down in most of the quotations returned.

In the jute market bales outside were done in the morning at Rs. 57-8 and late in the afternoon Rs. 58 was paid. Later it was reported that they were done at Rs. 58-8, but the report requires confirmation.

The gunny market was dull and little business was done, while in Hessians also nothing was reported.

RAILWAY MISHAP.

Delays on the Bhore Ghat due to Burst Water Main.

The bursting of the water main between Karjat and Palasdhari stations on the Bhore Ghat railway line resulted in detention to twenty trains, the engines of which could not be watered. The main constitutes a gravity feed for the engine tank at Karjat, the watering station, but fortunately there was a disused stationary engine on the spot, which was hastily overhauled and used to pump water from a local source for the use of the locomotives.

The Madras mail arrived an hour and fifty-five mintues late at Victoria Terminus; and No. 26 up Poona passenger, which is due there at 6-30 a. m., did not put in an appearance until 9-22. This train suffered the worst delay of all the inward passenger traffic. It was detained for two hours at Palasdhari, waiting for the Madras mail to clear the section. The mail to Madras arrived at Poona about four and a half hours late.

The cause of the pipe burst is not known.

ENGLISH MAIL ROBBERY.

Fourteen bags of this week's outward English mails by the R. M. S. "Egypt" were found to have been tampered with on the voyage.

The discovery was made after the steamer had left Suez. The bags had been cut open and part of their contents stolen, while several articles, not of particular value, lay scattered on the deck. It is believed that what was taken was of no great value either.

All the bags thus treated formed part of the consignment that had been transhipped at Port Said, and the inference is that the theft was committed at that port, when the transferred bags were being stowed in the mail room.

Notice was sent to the police in Bombay by a telegram from Aden and a wireless message from the "Egypt" but so far no clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of the theft.

This is the third case, within a comparatively short period, of mail bags being broached, the other two occasions being the "Egypt's" previous voyage out and that of the "Medina" last week. Both these thefts occurred on the other side of Aden and in neither case were the missing articles believed to be of much value.

BOMBAY INQUESTS.

MILKMAN'S SUICIDE.

The Coroner, Mr. G. H. Chalk, at the Morgue held an inquest yesterday touching the death of Ramprasad Bindalal, a Pardeshi milkman, aged about 35, living with his wife at DeLisle-road. The deceased and she had constant quarrels. At about 7 p.m. yesterday, he told her to go out and tend their buffaloes. She returned about an hour later to find the door of the room closed but not fastened. On entering she saw the deceased hanging by a rope tied round his neck. He was dead.

The jury unanimously returned a verdict of suicide

CRUSHED BY STEEL BEAMS.

The Coroner, Mr. G. F. Chalk, held an inquest yesterday, at the Morgue, on view of the body of Gonoo Kanoo, a Hindu aged about 25.

The deceased was seated by the side of Frere-road on Thursday evening, between two piles of rolled steel beams, when one of the piles toppled over with a crash and some eight to ten beams fall on the deceased, killing him instantaneously.

The jury unanimously returned a verdict of accidental death.

UNIVERSITY ELECTION.

Messrs. Balkrishna B. Joshi and Chimanlal H. Setalvad have been nominated as the two candidates for election by the Bombay University to the Bombay Legislative Council.

The final election takes place on the 12th December next, when Fellows will either have to come in person to the Senate to vote, or send written notes. The final result will be out on the 15th or 16th December.

KATHIAWAR FAMINE RELIEF.

Absence of Distress from Last Year's Drought.

FINAL REPORT.

THE Kathiawar Central Famine Relief Committe in its final report just issued says:—

The drought of 1911 did not affect the Sorath district except Porbandar and the Thana Circle of Lakhapadar. Of the other these districts Halar and Jhalawad suffered the most and Gohilwad the least.

The portion of Gohilwad which lies south of the railway line suffered less than the northern portion.

The drought of 1911 was not followed by a famine amongst human beings. The year 1912 has passed off as a year of high prices only. The Poor House in the Rajkot Civil Station, which was opened on the 29th February to serve as a famine gauge to measure the degree of distress, if any, prevailing in the surrounding country, and to which needy travellers from all quarters were welcomed, remained empty till the 24th March, and during the following three months attracted no more than 80 persons, leaving out of account 143 graziers who came to Rajkot in search of fodder for their cattle or passed by Rajkot with their herds. Out of the 80 inmates 41 belonged to castes which either habitually live by begging or add begging to their other occupations. A Sadavarta would show equal or more numerous admissions in an ordinary year. In 1900 staring people by dozens and scores and occasionally by hundreds used to flock to the Poor House, and many arrived in an extremely emaciated condition and had to be carefully tended and placed on diet under medical advice for one, two or more weeks to enable them to regain strength enough to go about.

The local orphanage received applications for the admission of no more than 19 orphans from August 1911 to August 1912.

Other conclusive proofs of the absence of famine distress this year are (1) that test works and relief works attracted few labourers and (2) that the rates of wages kept up to their normal level of about 4 annas for men and 2 1-2 to 3 annas for women. Such distress as has resulted from the high prices has not been much above what may be discovered in ordinary years, if philanthropy searched for and relieved it as it did this year.

THE FODDER FAMINE.

The only real famine has been a famine of fodder To a population mainly vegetarian a fodder famine is little less disastrous than a grain famine, since without plough-bullocks there can be no food grains and without cows no milk and ghee, which account for the sanctity which Hindu sentiment attaches to bovine life. In the Ad-interim Report dated 5th September it has been shown how the Bombay Central Famine Relief Committee and their energetic and indefatigable Secretary Mr. Purshotamdas Thakurdas, by their copious, regular and timely supply of cheap hay, enable this Committee to open cheap fodder depots at thirteen centres in the province. Since then figures have been received from all the Depots, showing the number of cattle saved by the grass sold at the Depots and the number of their owners. Appendix C shows the number of plough-bullocks and other cattle thus saved and also shows the probable number saved by the sale of grass regarding which full particulars are not available. The total number of cattle thus saved is about 20,868 including more than 9,827 plough-bullocks.

ADVANTAGES OF CHEAP OVER FREE GRASS.

It is necessary to emphasize here the advantages of cheap over free fodder. (1) A sum of money which will maintain a hundred head of cattle on free grass will maintain 200 if the grass is sold at half the cost and 300 if sold at one-third below cost price. (2) Persons who have to pay for grass may be relied upon to buy no more than they really need and to supplement it with local substitutes, while if they get it merely for the asking they would ask for a great deal more than they really require and use it wastefully. Certificates received at the Rajkot Depot from the Lodhika Thana fully support this view. Two specimens of them are annexed (Appendix D.) In one of them the Thandar says that the applicant is entitled to 5,610 lbs. under the scale laid down by the Committee, but wants to buy only 1,506 lbs. because he has got a good deal of green fodder. In the other he writes that the applicant is entitled to buy 2,790 lbs. but will manage with 1,000 lbs. only. The scale laid down by the Committee erred on the side of liberality as will be shown later on in para 14, but as the applicant had to pay for his grass he did not want to take full advantage of it. Thus the same sum of money can, on cheap grass, support not two or three but four or five times the number of cattle which it can maintain on free grass. Above all cheap grass will sustain the spirit of self-help and self-reliance and uphold the self-respect of the purchaser, while free grass weakens both and tends to pauperize the recipients. Free grass should be given to those who have no money or credit to purchase it. To others cheap grass only should be given, the price being regulated according to their means. The Committee acted upon this principle. Appendix E shows the quantities allowed by the Committee as free grass as compared with the quantities allowed by them for sale as cheap grass to the different Thanas etc.

THE WADIA TRUSTEES CHEAP GRASS.

It may be noted here that the sale price of the Wadia Trusties grass, which was provisionally fixed at Rs. 12-8-0 per 1,000 lbs., was by the Committee's Resolution No. 3 of 1-10-12 reduced finally to Rs. 11-4-0 and a rebate of Rs. 1-4-0 per 1,000 lbs. was given to the indentors who had purchased the grass at Rs. 12-8-0. To those who had originally paid at Rs. 12 only, the amount of rebate allowed was at the rate of annas 12 per 1,000 lbs. Thus all the purchasers got their grass at Rs. 11-4-0. The total quantity of the Wadia Trustees' grass sold in the Rajkot Civil Station, the Rajkot City and Porbunder was 19,69,096 lbs., and the rebate paid as above amounted to Rs. 2,434-1-11.

It is obvious that grass selling operations at thirteen centres, scattered over three-fourths of the province from Jhinjhuwada in the north-east and Maliya in the north of Dhrafa on the south-west, could not have been successfully carried out without the willing and active co-operation of the local officers to whom the grass was consigned for sale. The acknowledgements of the Committee are due to them for their assistance which, the Committee are aware, must have entailed a good deal of work in addition to their official duties.

THE CATTLE KITCHEN.

On the 8th May a Cattle Kitchen for cattle belonging to destitute persons other than residents of the Civil Station was opened in the Civil Station and was placed under the management of a Sub-Committee consisting of Khan Bahadur Bezonji Merwanji and Mr. Masurekar, Honorary Secretary. Only young and useful animals were admitted to it such as would come under Section 229 of the Famine Code. Persons seeking admission for their cattle to the Kitchen were required to produce certificates of poverty from the Police Patels of their villages. Their cattle were then provisionally admitted and if subsequently approved by Dr. Panthaki, a Veterinary Surgeon in the employ of the Rajkot State, were allowed to remain. In point of fact Dr. Panthoki never rejected any animal provisionally admitted by the Sub-Committee.

The animals were kept and fed in an enclosure contiguous to the Civil Station Cattle Camp and after the first heavy fall of rain in June for a few days in the stables of the Patri Utara and then in those of the Lakhtar Utara. The best thanks of the Committee are due to the Chief of Patri and to the Thakore Saheb of Lakhtar for there kindly lending the use of their stables for the accommodation of the cattle. The cattle were throughout under the care of their owners and were taken out twice a day for watering and exercise. None of them fell under Class A-1 requiring 15 lbs. per day. A short experience showed that the cattle could not in 24 hours consume all the grass given to them under the prescribed scale and at the request of the owners themselves it was gradually reduced until the average came to 8 1-2 lbs. per head. After the first heavy fall of rain, the cattle were given special provender for nine days such a sweet oil, cotton seed and oil cake and the recommendation of Dr. Panthaki, to sustain them against the change of season. The number of cattle in the Kitchen beginning with 18 on the 8th May rose to 171 on 18th June. Towards the end of June the owners began of their own accord to leave one by one with their cattle and by the 10th July only 51 cattle were left in the Kitchen and by the 14th July none. The monsoon was early this year, having broken on the 15th June at Rajkot and on the 11th in some of the neighbouring villages. The experiment shows the 8 1-2 lbs. per head on an average, taking cows and calves together, is an ample allowance where the cattle ar of ordinary size and about 10 lbs. where they are of larger size. The best managed Cattle Camp in the City of Rajkot, the Mandvi Chowk Cattle Camp, where the cattle were well fed and cared for and kept in a fine condition showed the daily average to purpose. be only 7 1-4 lbs.

BRAHMIN RELIEF.

The Honorary Secretary of the Bombay Central Famine Relief Fund granted to this Committee Rs. 100 for the relief of respectable Brahmin families, especially widows and orphans, out of a fund placed at his disposal andear-marked for that purpose. Additions to it were subsequently made from other sources. The recipients of the relief were 27, out of whom 2 were men 18 were widows and 7 were orphans.

WELLS.

The Bombay Central Famine Relief Committee made several grants for wells for the supply of drinking water at Chomalpur in Gohilwad, in Malya and at Bhadwa in Halar. The grants were made by the Bombay Central on applications made to them direct and not through this Committee. With the exception of the Bhadwa grant they merely passed through this Committee in the form of credit being given to the local officers concerned, in their grass account with this Committee. A grant for one more well at Mulila in the Lodhika Thana in Halar was about to be sanctioned by the Bombay Central but the applicants would not pass the agreement required by the Bombay Central and it fell through. Appendix I shows the number of wells, the places where they are sunk and the amounts granted for them. This Committee had only one application which was for the Expenses of completing an irrigation well already sunk. It was for the small sum of Rs. 10 which the Committee granted. It is shown in the table. The balance of the Bombay Central's grant for the Bhadwa well was under Resolution 4 of 11-912 paid over to the Vice-Presidency to be disposed of by him in consultation with the Honorary Secretary of the Bombay Central Famine Relief Fund.

OTHER FORMS OF RELIEF UNDER SECTION 242.

Grants for some other form of relief under Section 242 were made on 13th March. Appendix K shows the grants made for human relief.

STORAGE OF GRASS, A SUGGESTION.

In pre-railway days it was the practice to store both grain and grass as a provision against bad years, but it has now fallen into disuse in most places. As regards grain there is no reason for reviving it. It is not every kind of grain which can be stored and even Juwari gets damaged by long storage and a portion of it is spoiled and rendered unfit for human food. If the grain instead of being stored were sold and the proceeds invested the interest together with the principal will more than cover the cost of the same quantity of imported grain in a famine year. Besides railways and steamers now afford every facilty for rapidly importing into a famine affected district any quantity of grain which may be required. In the famine of 1900 we had Mug from China, rice from Rangoon and Juwar from Persia etc. Trade, always on the look-out for a profit, seldom fails to send grain to place where a famine or a scarcity becomes imminent.

But as to hay the case is different, Its great bulk in proportion to its course and the enormous quantities required make the transport difficult and the railways are shown by experience to be unable to cope with the traffic. This year most traders and charity organizations alike found themselves unable to move all the grass they had bought for import. The Bombay Central working in co-operation with the B. B. and C. I. was the only exception. Besides, were it not for the concession which Government gave, and which cost them three times the freight that the importers had to pay, the import of it would have been absolutely prohibitive. Immense quantities of hay go to utter waste in ordinary years because they do not repay the cost of cutting and carting. Such grass could be bought at a small cost in ordinary years and should be stacked and preserved as an insurance against years of drought.

NEW BOOKS.

Mr. Richard Washburn Child, the author of "The Blue Wall" (Constable,) is an American writer of promise, who in this vivid story handles the theme of heredity in a new and rather striking way. The book opens with a problem which is baffling a doctor, who is nevertheless, determined to find a solution of the mystery. A child of wealthy parents is suffering from a strange illness, the nature of which cannot be satisfactorily diagnosed, but which is apparently connected in some dim, intangible way with ther blue wall behind the cot in which the child is lying. What influences, now good, as when the little girl gives promise of recovery now sinister, as when she has a relapse, emanate from this partition? The doctor makes up his mind to find out, and the reader who follows him in his investigations will find the doctor's narrative and the narratives of the new characters who come upon the scene remarkably interesting. The mystery is so far solved, but the partial solution engenders speculations on a deeper mystery still, regarding which the reader can only be advised to do as the doctor did, and keep an open mind.

Messrs. John Long will shortly publish a novel entitled TWO CAN PLAY, from the pen of Horace Muspratt, a new author. Though the main situation is connected with a turf sensation, the author has evaded solely depicting a series of racing scenes, plot and counter-plot being capably interwoven.

Messrs. John Long have just published in their popular 6d. net. (Cloth) Novels "THRICE ARMED," by Harold Bindloss and The Girl in Grey, by Curtis Yorke. At the same time they will publish "A RECKLESS OWNER" by Nat Gould at 6d.

Messrs. John Long announce for immediate publication an important new novel from the pen of Tom Gallon, author of MEMORY CORNER, "THE GREAT GAY ROAD," etc. The story is entitled "LEVITY HICKS," and is the record of John Levitious Hicks, a man who has never had a chance. Others have made use of him and shielded themselves behind him, love has been denied him and snatched from him, he has been Fortune's football. He dies, and after an interval, comes back, and the story turns on the influence the dead man is able to exert on those with whom he came in contact during his life.

—IMPORTANT BOOK ON THE NEW REPUBLICAN CHINA.—John Stuart Thomson, the China traveller and author of THE CHINESE (Laurie, London) will have out late this season a large new book entitled REVOLUTIONIZED CHINA, illustrated both by choice colored plates by Chinese artists and by many unusually fine photo half tones and colored maps. Among the photos are striking ones of the leaders of the new republic. The book of 600 pages will be published in America by the Bobbs-Merrill Co., and in London by Werner Laurie. It is promised that it is a most important work by a traveller and economist who spent three years on the ground. It will cover the whole, new, republican China of to-day and the future, in thirty fields, in its relation with Britain, America, Japan etc. After his long stay in China, Mr. Thomson made a trip around the world via Japan, India, Indo-China, the Philippines etc., and Europe to study the trade and political relations of the various nations with the new China. He is a foremost exponent of what is practically an Anglo-American naval alliance in Pacific and Atlantic waters, and an Anglo-American working understanding in Far East politics.

IN another column we publish the prospectus of the Indian Cotton Oil Co. Ld., with a capital of ten lakhs. The Company has established a large Mill and a Refinery at Navsari. These have been equipped with the best machinery of the latest style. The processes of manufacture are conducted under the direct supervision of the Company's European Expert, Mr. Alexander F. Yuill, who has had a thorough practical training of this business in American cotton-seed mills. The products have been highly mentioned by experts like Dr. Mann and they all sell faster than produced. In fact since the Company's Refinery began work, in April last, upwards of 25,000 maunds of refined cotton seed oil has been sold; and yet it has been impossible to cope with the rapidly increasing demand for the same though the factory is working day and night. Under the new company operations will be extended.

LAW INTELLIGENCE

THE HIGH COURT.

B. B. and C. I. Railway Sued.

Jehangir Mancherji Lali, Parsi of Grant-road Bombay, has sued the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Company for the recovery of Rs. 30,000 for injuries sustained by the plaintiff while in a second class railway carriage.

On the 4th November 1911 the plaintiff was travelling to Udvada from Church Gate Station. Beyond Andheri station a train was being shunted and a door in one of the carriages of that train had been left open. The plaintiff was reading a newspaper with his arm projecting not more than four inches out of the window and the opened door struck his hand and fractured it. The plaintiff was sent back to Bombay from Borivli and was treated at Dr. Masina's hospital, where he was detained for forty days. The plaintiff may not be able to attend to his business before six months from now and he may not ever regain the full use of his injured hand. The plaintiff is a stock and sharebroker and was earning Rs. 350 a month. He had not started his business long and his prospects were very good. The business obliges him to be in a crowd at the Stock Exchange, where there is hustling and pushing, and the injury sustained may prevent him from holding his own in the crush.

The defendants deny that they were shunting a train, that any door of such train was open, or that they were guilty of negligence. Owing to the wind pressure caused by the passing of the train in which the plaintiff was travelling, a door in the other train, in carriage No. 209, flew open, which defendants had no reason to anticipate. The fracture was no more than a simple fracture. The defendants say that the injury was due to the plaintiff's own negligence in allowing his arms to project from the carriage window.

When the case was called on yesterday before Mr. Justice Davar, Mr. Davar, counsel for the Railway Company, prayed that Mr. Sedgwick, the Loco. Superintendent of the Railway might be examined "de bene esse", as he was leaving for England the following day (to-day).

Mr. Jinna, for the plaintiff, said that he had received notice only that day (Friday).

The Court: Is he so important a witness?

Mr. Davar: He will prove that the carriage the plaintiff was travelling in had notices in it warning passengers against projecting any part of their body out of the train.

The Court: You can call other witnesses to prove that.

Mr. Davar: But I may be charged with keeping back the responsible head of the department. A similar charge was brought in the cotton bale burning case. It will be said that guards and station masters are called to give evidence and the head of the department is held back.

The Court: Why was not notice given before?

Mr. Davar: We thought the witness would have been examined long ago.

The Court: Let him give evidence, then.

Mr. Davar: He is in Parel. He may be telephoned for. We have settled the time as 3-30 p. m.

The Court: Who settled the time? I alone can do that. It is in my Court. When was the case on the board?

Mr. Davar: On Thursday.

At 3 30 Mr. Sedgwick was examined and said that he had had the notices removed when the carriages came in for repairs.

The case is proceeding.

OWNERSHIP OF JEWELLERY.

Messrs. Mangaldas Lallubhai, shroffs and merchants at Chhipi Chawl have sued Messrs. Kaesar and Walter, jewellers, doing business through their agent, Mr. William Sills living at the Apollo Hotel, Mr. R. D. Sethna, Official Assignee, to the estate of Amratlal Dayaram, and Messrs. Manilal Dayaram, till lately doing business in Bombay as jewellers, to recover possession of a box of jewels pledged to the plaintiffs but now in the hands of the Clerk of the Crown, as the result of a sessions case in which Amratlal Dayaram was [illegible] cheating Mr. William [illegible] convicted of [illegible] in respect of the jewels. The plaintiffs are shroffs and merchants. The first defendants are jewellers carrying on business through Mr. W. Sills. Mr. Sethna was the Official Assignee, who took possession of the properties of Amratlal Dayaram and Manilal Dayaram when they were adjudicated insolvents on the 21st December, 1911. Amratlal on the 18th November, 1911, came to the plaintiffs with Chunilal Umedhbai, and obtained a loan for the insolvent firm for Rs.10,000 on the security of certain articles of jewellery contained in a hat-box. Amratlal said that his firm was the owner of the jewellery. It was further agreed that on payment of a sum of Rs. 5,000 within ten days the insolvent firm should be entitled to redeem the articles.

On the 24th, Amratlal Dayaram repaid the Rs. 5,000, and redeemed the articles. On the 20th December the police took charge of the hat-box and jewellery, and Amratlal was convicted for cheating in respect of those articles. In March 1912, Mr. William Sills wanted to get the jewels back as he had been cheated out of them by Amratlal. The Sessions Judge ordered the plaintiffs to file a suit to recover the jewels, and they remained with the Crown. Hence this suit.

The matter came up yesterday before Mr. Justice Beaman, in the Bombay High Court.

Messrs. Setalwad Desai, instructed by Messrs. Motichand and Devidas, appeared for the plaintiffs; Messrs. Bahadurji and Raikes instructed by Messrs. Mirza, Mirza and Mangaldas for the first defendant; and Messrs. Strangman, Wadia and Kanga, instructed by Messrs. Raghava Nagendas, for the defendant.

The plaintiff's counsel argued that the jewels had not been obtained by Amratlal, but, if they had, Mr. Sills must have sold them for cash or credit to the insolvent firm, and the plaintiffs were the real owners of the articles, as they had kept them on a "bona fide" mortgage. The plaintiffs also prayed that the articles might be sold, and the money due to the plaintiffs paid.

The first defendant claims the jewels as belonging to his firm and that the plaintiffs are not entitled to them. Amratlal Dayaram was charged with cheating in respect of all articles obtained by him from Mr. Sills, and criminal breach of trust in respect of some of the articles. The jewels were obtained by Amratlal by fraud, and defendant claimed the jewels.

The case is proceeding.

PARTNERSHIP DISPUTE.

Narayan Jedawji, of Narshwady near Tankbunder, Bombay, as plaintiff, sued Bhanjee Ludha of Chinch-bunder, Bombay, and Vallabji Lakhanseh of the same place for an order to wind up their partnership business.

The plaintiff and the defendants and one Bhansali Khimji Premji carried on business in Bombay in partnership as commission agents, uner the name of Pragji Ludha and Co. The plaintiff had a share of 4 1-2 annas, the first defendant 4 1-2 annas, the second 2 annas and Bhansali Khimji Premji 4 1-2 annas. The remaining 1-2 anna was for charity. Bhansali Khimji Premji retired in 1912, and his share was distributed among the other partners.

The defendants on the 11th November 1912 intimated to plaintiff that he had ceased to be a partner of Pragji Ludha and Co. since last Dewali (9th November 1912) in pursuance of a provision in the partnership agreement. The first defendant entirely excluded plaintiff from the account-books and the latter petitioned the High Court to issue an injunction preventing the defendants from dealing with the partnership property, and for the appointment of a Receiver of the firm. The plaintiff also prayed for the winding up of the business, and for the accounts to be settled.

The prayer of the plaintiff for the appointment of a Receiver was granted by Mr. Justice Beaman. Mr. Sethna was appointed Receiver and he took possession of two boxes and sixteen books of accounts. He also sealed a safe and cupboard belonging to the first defendant.

An urgent motion was made before Mr. Justice Beaman yesterday to have the appointment of the Receiver quashed, as the second defendant was a minor and the plaintiff ought to have presented the petition for the appointment of a guardian "ad litem"; that the boxes contained private properties. The defendant also prayed that the Receiver might hand the boxes over to the first defendant and to authorise him to sell cocoanuts from the godown.

Mr. Raiker, instructed by Messrs. Mehta and Dalpatram appeared for the defendants and Mr Jafar for the plaintiff.

Mr. Justice Beaman, after hearing counsel, held that no extraordinary action was called for in the case, and that the Receiver could be left where he was till the hearing of the suit, and that would be doing no injustice to the defendants. The costs of the hearing would be adjusted according to the results of the hearing of the main suit next day.

BROTHERS IN DISAGREEMENT.

Kundlick Pandooji, banker of Bombay, living in Grant-road, sued Dhondiba Panduji and Balkrishna Panduji, bankers, living in the same road, for dissolution of partnership in certain contracts entered into by them with the Railway Companies.

In 1907 the plaintiff and the defendants, who are brothers, entered into an agreement in Bombay to carry on business in partnership, as building and general contractors. There was no written agreement. They supplied rubble stone and other materials to Messrs. Price, Wills and Reeves in the name of the second defendant. They also undertook four works in 1908 in the first defendent's name. The works undertaken by them aggregated more than six lakhs of rupees which were completed excepting the filling up of some land on the B. B. and C. I. Railway at Lower Parel. They acquired three plots of land in Arthur-road from the Improvement Trust on a lease of 99 years, but no formal lease was executed through the alleged default of the first defendant.

In 1911 the plaintiff and the first defendant quarrelled, and the plaintiff wanted to settle accounts, but the first defendant put him off from time to time. The plaintiff said that the partnership was dissolved from the 1st May 1912, except as to the unfinished works. He apprehended that if the first defendant were allowed to receive the amounts of the final bills and the amounts deposited with the G. I. P. and B. B. and C. I. Railways, the money would be lost to the plaintiff. The plaintiff, accordingly prayed for declaration that the partnership had been dissolved from the 1st day of May 1912, and for the appointment of a Receiver to take charge of the partnership books, to recover outstandings and to pay debts.

The quarrel continued between the brothers, and one of them went so far as to complain to the police of robbery on the part of his brother.

The plaintiff alleged that under the first defendant's management the deposit of Rs. 50,000 in the bank had vanished. The first defendant, it was alleged, had devoted his own time and a portion of the partnership funds to organising theatrical companies. The plaintiff said that the first defendant in a day or two might receive the money due by the Railway Companies, and the plaintiff would not be able to recover his share. So he prayed that an injunction might be issued and a Receiver appointed in the matter.

The defence contended that the partnership was a purely joint family concern and was divided into six equal parts among six brothers, three of whom were minors. Defendant No. 1 said that he would gladly give an undertaking not to appropriate the money if plaintiff furnished funds to carry on the contracts at Matoonga and other places.

The matter came up before Mr. Justice Davar of the Bombay High Court yesterday morning and Mr. Jinna appeared for the first defendant to oppose the plaintiff's application for injunction and restraint; but no one appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Jinna said that it was strange that the plaintiff did not make his appearance after giving notice to the defendants.

His Lordship, after looking through the papers, gave Mr. Jinna the costs of the day, and remarked that he was not going to follow Mr. Justice Beaman, who was of opinion that the plaintiff's motion might be brought forward any day. His Lordship also said that the motion would be allowed to be brought forward but the first defendant's convenience must be consulted.

FALSE PROSECUTION.

Sadasiva Ganesh Behare sued Baloo Ganshet Teli for damages for wrongful and malicious prosecution, on charges of extortion, criminal intimidation and mischief.

On the 30th January last the defendant started criminal proceedings against the plaintiff and his two brothers, before the District Magistrate of Ratnagiri, in which he stated that the three, accompanied by about fifty people, went to his house, threatened to kill him and obtained his signature to two or three documents by force.

In the criminal case accused Sadashiv was acquitted and he sued the complainant for damages.

The Sub-Judge of Ratnagiri held that the bringing of a charge false to the knowledge of the prosecutor imparted in law malice sufficient to support a civil action. Malice in law must be inferred from the conduct of the defendant. The Court allowed the plaintiff damages of Rs. 308.

The matter came up on appeal before the Chief Justice and Sir N. G. Chandavarkar in the Bombay High Court and their Lordships did not interefere with the judgment of the Lower Court.

THE POLICE COURTS.

DISEASED BEEF.

At the Mazagon Police Court, before the acting Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Mr. G. P. Khairaj, Inspector Carter charged a Mahomedan named Ajimulla Karimbux with importing sixty pounds of beef into Bombay without a municipal license. The meat was diseased.

Gulam Hussein Gulam Rasul a Municipal Meat Inspector, in his deposition, said that the accused alighted from a train at the Mazagon railway station on Thursday afternoon at 2-30 p.m. The witness followed him as far as the Dongri police station and pointed him out to police sepoy No. 1378 B., who arrested him. The accused was carrying sixty pounds of beef, which was deceased.

The accused admitted his guilt, and as he had had a previous conviction for the same offence, the magistrate fined him Rs. 50, in default to undergo one month's simple imprisonment.

THEFT IN A MILL.

Before the same magistrate Inspector Fuller charged Chudder Subban and Gajadhar, two mill-hands of the Framjee Petit Mills, with theft as servants of sixteen pieces of cloth valued at Rs. 12, belonging to the above mill.

Saddoo Gassoo in his deposition said that he was a jobber in the Framji Petit Mills. On Thursday he received certain information, in consequence of which the accused were arrested. Their room was searched and a box containing the missing property was found.

The accused admitted the theft and the magistrate convicted and sentenced them to fifteen days' hard labour.

A CORRECTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The attention of our client Mr. Devji Tricumdas has been drawn to a report appearing in your issue of the 20th instant of a case in which he was a party under the heading of "Law Intelligence."

The report re-produces at some length part of the proceedings and does not refer to what happened later on in the case and in the absence of any mention of the facts which were brought out at a later stage of the hearing. Some of the remarks quoted in the report might be misunderstood. Under the circumstances we consider it desirable in fairness to our client to supplement what is given in the report by further facts which were brought to the notice of the Court during the course of the hearing of the case.

The reference to the house worth Rs. 30,000 with a mortgage on it was due to a misunderstanding. As was explained to the Court later on, the house did not belong to Radhabai, of whose Will our client is the Executor, but belonged to her husband and our client as Executor claimed, no interest in it. The confusion was due to the fact that there was litigation about this house between Premabai and Hariram Chagpal who opposed our client's application for Probate.

As regards certain further observations reported, the Court was informed when the matter proceeded that our client Mr. Devji Tricumdas was not even in Bombay when Radhabai made her Will.

We hope in fairness to our client who is a B.A., L.L. B., of the Bombay University and a High Court Pleader, you will publish the above in your next issue.—Yours, &c.,

SHROFF DINSHA AND DHARAMSI.

WHY PAIN ON EARTH?

(BY PESTANJI DORABJI KHANDALAVALA).

Not a soul but has asked himself this question. No crossing but the finger-post bears this point of interrogation. It is ever present like a shadow. Why? Partly because of the way we look at it. Standing on the deck of a boat, we watch the sea just under our eyes. It is a dizzy scene: dash of wind-blown crest of wave, plunge of boat into the billows sweeping under her prow, pitch of masts, and movement of the scud overhead. But away in the distance, far up as the eye can reach, we see line after line of proudly crested waves ordered up, like regiments in reserve marching "en echelon" and can calmly enjoy the rise and the fall of the battalions, as they keep ceaselessly coming on. So with pain.

" 'Tis looking downward that makes one dizzy." The trend of modern science is towards and into the invisible, suggesting to us that there are subtile emanations, subtile forces, X-rays, N-rays, Becquerel rays, lights and sounds in Nature above and below the pitch of human sense-perception, demonstrated by their manifestations in the visible.

THINGS ARE NOT WHAT THEY SEEM.

There may be much more involved in them than appears. Let crude materialism wedded to its idol called the 'concrete," the 'tangible pooh-pooh what is unseen, unseen only in the sense that our unaided sight cannot detect the colours in a beam of light without a prism, or discern a portrait on a sensitive plate before development. The credulous sceptic with his intellectual vice of contempt prior to examination, assumes that ignorance of one's subject is a qulification for criticism, when a simple experiment in clair-voyance or thought-transference is enough to destroy his dull conservatism for ever. We think and feel falsely respecting our life, if we cannot recognise some unseen bearing of it. For we do not, we know we cannot, see the whole. Are we exploring the material world? Don't we soon find that to understand any part of it aright, we have to recognise things which are unseen, to have regard to conditions which do not come within our direct perception? It is enough to instance the pressure of the air, the motion of the earth, the hidden force working in unseen atoms of chemical affinity or electricity, the vibrations which traverse the universal ether, and in fine that invisible unity whereby man has traced out in nature a perfect order amid all confusion. Why have, we in our time, been so overtaken by the gloomy idea of

A GIGANTIC RUSE DRIVING US

to unknown ends? Is it because of the littleness of our lives compared to the stupendous worlds laid bare by astronomy, geology and palæontology? Then we have been deaf to the call of the universe to rise to the height of our true stature. Heroism and patience, sympathy and self-sacrifice make us grand. Where would these be were there no pain, poverty or pressure? Where the torch brighter than love's to light us to loftier paths? Where one more radiant than that of sweet pity or of tender forgiveness? What was it that lit it in Lords Buddha and Christ! Sin, poverty, strife, disease, Physician and philanthropist, nurse and nun are the messengers of love. Pain then is the most valuable and educative event which can come to us. It is a true gift of the gods like love and death. Its discipline is what has produced all the elevations of humanity hitherto.

"Then welcome each rebuff
"That turns earth's smoothness rough,
"Each sting that bids nor sit, nor stand, but go?
"Be our joys three-parts pain!
"Strive and hold cheap the strain!
"Learn, nor account the pang;
"Dare, never grudge the throe."

All life is a journey, and a process. But how many of us can trace of our personal pain? The seeming of our life is not the truth of it. The great secret is not to seek either suffering or pleasure, but to accept them when they come as inspirations as means to a definite end. We have all to learn, though we do not see the end, to trust the end. Out of this trust comes a curious insight, and a distinct knowledge. This is so purely personal that it cannot be thrust upon another. Will the lights and shadows which pass over my soul touch you, if I can at all describe them? Not unless I can give you my point of view. No argument can do that. The essence of belief is one's own. It is made up of his life-stuff. All I can do for one who is in earnest is to try and feel with him the seriousness and mystery of life. Feeling is the immediate unity of subject and object. I am pained, because I cannot rid myself of an element which is already within me. In feeling I am absolutely one with myself. What need is there then to attempt justifying by means of reason, a faith in the gentle beneficent power—manifesting itself in emotion—that comes out of the fields, the wave, and the woods penetrating me and producing a desirable disposition of mind I long to retain. This is why Omar Khayyam says:—"From doubt to clear assurance is a breath, a breath from infidelity to faith, deem this single breath very precious, for it is the harvest of a whole life." This is light from the unseen, a word spoken by God. It suffices to make the dark places bright, to wrap the sorrow-stricken heart of man in the wonder of an unutterable glory. Only a touch transforms. Our knowledge, however, high, to wit Professor Shafer's epoch-making address—remains at the surface only of things. We are led by it to the "resistless fact" that mere power rules: "No more than the passive clay" Disputes the potter's act could the whelmed mind disobey "Knowledge the cataract." Let us not fail to grasp here that the Potter is an intelligent being bent on something more serious than mere play. How well he has kept the secret of life's emergence at conception! You may guess with what probability you like his scheme, but you may as well stop the rolling spheres in infinity, as steal the secret of his work. Says Shams-ul-Tabriz, He is: "Ham tigh, ham Kashandeh, ham Kushteh, ham Kushandeh" sword and swordsman the slayer and the slain. He is Himself the Life that inspires, the Potter, and the Clay. Sure He fashions a cup, but how consummate, how artistic!

THE "FORWARD ENDS"

SINGLE FLASH OF FAITH

" 'Tis looking downward that makes one dizzy' again. Look up, to uses of a cup "What needst thou with earth's wheel?" Biology teaches us that pain is the guardian angel of the body. Like hunger which is an imperative need, pain is an imperative warning. It is inevitable, and nothing which is naturally inevitable can be an evil. Night, winter and death are not evils. They are but natural transitions from one day to another, from autumn to spring, from one life to another. The

of life, its tear, and wear, and pressure, is what discovers to man that he

"Hath God's end to serve,
"A master to obey, a course to take,
"Somewhat to cast off,
"Somewhat to become."

For increase in his humanity, and decrease in his personal vanity man has to pay what seems a terrible price. Did not, what Wordsworth names, "the burden of unintelligible things" weigh on us, we never had wept, nor knelt, nor prayed. We have to strain the string to strike the song. Strain is certainly stress, but without it where would the music be which sleeps in the string? Let not our finite intellect mislead us. Instead of a Benevolent Purpose, its testimony points to a power maintaining the world in its remorseless course. It is because intellect sees only a small arc of the complete circle of being. This earth-life of ours is like the crescent moon. The shadow which covers the moon's broken arc is an emblem of the evils which obscure our passage through this earthly scene, while the promise of its being complete one day is instinctively felt by us. A mere link in the endless chain of causes, man is incapable of changing the least part of the scheme of things which his intellect condemns. But the very fact that he regards evil, whether natural or moral as something to be annulled is an immediate proof of the potency of the Highest indwelling in man. We may, therefore, believe and rejoice in the belief that Absolute Good fulfils itself in all things. The miseries of life are really but its refracted rays. Like rain essential to the life of the trees, the rain of sorrow must be drawn into our life-blood not to fail of the growth we were born to accomplish.

"Let be thy wail, and help thy fellow-men
"And make thy gold thy vassal, not thy king'
"And fling free alms into the beggar's bowl,
"And send the day into the darken'd heart;
"Nor list for guerdon in the voice of men,
"A dying echo from a falling wall."

PRIZE DAY AT ST. XAVIER'S.

A School for the Making of Good Citizens.

The annual prize-giving at St. Xavier's High School took place last evening. Mr. P. R. Cadel, I.C.S., Municipal Commissioner, presided.

The spacious school hall was crowded with the parents and guardians of the students, who also mustered strongly on the occasion, though admission was by tickets only.

The proceedings opened with the school orchestra playing "Lebenslust" in flawless style. The Rector then read the annual report, which showed that there were 1,329 students on the rolls. In the Matriculation examination 50 were successful out of 64 sent up. One attained the first place in the Presidency and five University scholarships and prizes were secured. The Rector deplored the fact that only 120 matriculates had taken up Latin, as its value in training the mind could not be over-estimated and as it was indispensable to those going to England to qualify for the Civil Service or the legal and medical professions. He also said the system of private tuition lay at the root of untold evils, as it hindered independent work, stifled the thinking powers and opened a door to dishonesty.

The prizes were then distributed by the chairman. The prize-winners were of all nationalities and they were cheered heartily by the general body of students.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

The Chairman then delivered the following speech:—Mr. Rector, Ladies and Gentlemen,—It was with some hesitation that I accepted the invitation of the Rector to preside over this gathering, because my knowledge of the schools of Bombay is necessarily limited. The only branch of municipal activity which does not come within the scope of the Municipal Commissioner's responsibility is the expenditure on education. This is, perhaps, merciful, considering the extent of his other duties. No one, however, who takes any interest in the future of Bombay can fail to observe the good work done by its leading schools, and among these St. Xavier's High School takes a place which is prominent indeed.

The numbers in the school are very large. In fact, they would, I think, be thought to be unmanageably so in England. That they have not proved to be unmanageable in St. Xavier's High School is shown by the excellent results set out in the annual report. It is not, however, the teaching in the class rooms alone that gives the school its very high reputation, and attracts boys of all communities, many belonging to the best families in Bombay, in such numbers. There are, as you have recently been reminded, higher objects before the teachers than the mere inculcation of book knowledge. The great Order to which the teachers in this school belong has always been famous, in its educational work, for the attention which it has given to the framing and fostering of the moral characteristics of the boys placed under its charge. Nor have the teachers failed to recognise the advantages of games, not merely as a necessity for physical health, and an alternation from book work, but as a training ground for the boys' most manly qualities. I have had some experience of the skill of the St. Xavier's boys in the cricket field. Their prowess has been great; it has always been too much for me personally. But even more noticeable than their skill has been the sporting and gentlemanly spirit in which they have met the varying fortunes of the games.

Gentlemen, Bombay needs all the good citizens that can be supplied to it. There is constant opportunity for good men, not only in the administration of the city, and in the various branches of social work of improvement and regeneration, but in the professions and pursuits of ordinary life. It is the object of the Rector and his assistants to turn out out these good citizens. Their successes have been numerous in the past, among them I am glad to reckon several of the most useful and hard-working of the members of the Corporation, and I am sure that all present here will join with me in wishing them even greater success and continued prosperity in the management of their great school in the future.

Mr. Macdonald, in proposing a vote of thanks to the chair, said that Mr. Cadell appreciated every thing good.

The students then acted "The Orphan Avenged", a drama in three acts, which brought a pleasant evening to a close.

WIZARD OF THE VIOLIN.

Miss Marie Hall is to be heard in Bombay shortly for arrangements have been completed whereby she will give two recitals at the Town Hall on Friday and Saturday, January 3rd and 4th, under the patronage of their Excellencies Sir George and Lady Clarke; and all Bombay will, doubtless, seize the opportunity of hearing the lady who is universally named as the greatest living violinist. She will come supported by Miss Marguerite Tilleard, a famous solo pianist, and Mr. C. E. Stuart Wedist.

The "Weekly News", commenting on a recent recital in England, says:—

Tuesday was made memorable by the visit of that wonderful violinist, Marie Hall, whose fame is already world-wide. When, at three o'clock, the concert opened, the Pavilion was simply packed, the audience being even larger than that which assembled to welcome Madame Patti at the opening concert in the Pavilion five years ago.

Miss Marie Hall made her final bow amid rapturous applause, and she was afterwards the central figure in a remarkable demonstration. The large audience drew up on each side of the pier, leaving a space in the middle to walk upon, and as the violinist passed up this aisle towards the gates there were rounds upon rounds of applause. It was a veritable royal progress.

Messrs. Rose and Co. will open the sale of reserved seats on Monday, December 9th.

THE King has issued a Warrant declaring that ladies who have been or may be appointed maids of honour to the Queen or Queen Alexandra, or hereafter to any Queen Regnant, or Queen Consort, or Queen Dowager, may assume and use the prefix "Honourable," and shall have precedence immediately after the daughters of barons.

The American President's wife has a definite legal status in America, and strict rules are laid down for her behaviour during her husbands term of office. The Lady of the White House must not accept general invitations, and outside of the Cabinet circle cannot attend formal dinners in Washington. Away from Washington she may dine with anybody she likes. There is an unwritten law which allows her to walk through a quadrille with a high official, but it would be wrong for her to waltz.

SPORTING NEWS.

BILLIARDS AT MAIDANIA.

A Magnificent Exhibition by the Champions.

AN excellent exhibition of billiards was given at the Maidania by Stevenson and Gray, the world's champion, before a large and appreciative audience. The skating rink was altered into a first-class billiard saloon, with a good table, fitted with Express Climatic low cushions.

This being an excellent opportunity for the local billiard amateurs to witness the world's champions on green cloth, a large number representing the principal local clubes, had booked seats. It was, perhaps, for the first time that the Autralian champion exhibited an all-round game instead of running up his score by his renowned losing hazards.

Stevenson was a little indisposed and did not play as he usually does, twice he had a miss-cue and often he missed shots that he has been seen to accomplish with complete confidence.

When the game ended the scores were:—

Gray	700
Stevenson	266.

Gray's best breaks included one of 174, one of 120, and one of 100. Stevenson's best break was only 76.

A game of Snookers was then played, in which Gray was completely beaten, the scores being:—

Stevenson	65
Gray	4.

An exhibition of some really good fancy shots was finally given by Mr. Gray. Another exhibition will be held at "Maidania" to-night, at 9-30 p. m.

ENGLISH POLITICAL LETTER

contribution to the controversy. He writes:—The word "quack" is imitative of the pretentious cry of certain birds, and is found in the Sanscrit kaka, a crow kakatua, a cockatoo; kukuta a cock; and kokila, a cuckoo; and in the Greek kokkue, a cuckoo; and the Latin quaquila a quail; while from the Latin coccyx and Low Latin coccum we get such words as cockerel cuckold, and coquette, and through Teutonic tongues, as cock and chicken and cackle and quack and gawk and gowk, all words of slighting signification; as is also cachinnation taken direct from the Latin. A quack, therefore, from the medical point of view, is one who cackles and crows in an unseemly manner over his own medicines—which he may do honestly or not, if they are of open prescription: but if they are secret remedies or nostrums, as we of the profession stigmatize them because they are not "of us," he is certainly a charlatan, or one who deliberately lays himself open to the imputation of being a dishonest quack. He proceeds:—Turning for light to the history of our materia medica, we must again go to India, where the antiquity of the "Old World" has survived to the present day in religion and art, and, so far as it went, in science; and there we find that every part of the human body is in the tutelage of certain of the Signs of the Zodiac and certain of the Planets; and that every planet and every Sign has certain plants and minerals, etc., sacred to it; and that the sovereign remedies for any one diseased limb or organ of the human body are the plants and minerals, etc., sacred to the Planets and the Signs presiding over it. The practice of medicine, in short, is not a science but an art—ever in danger of being degraded and debased to a quackery—against which dishonour it cannot be too severely protected; and more so in the public interest than even that of "the profession." But of honest "nostrums" I have, myself, always been tolerant. When my patients in India used to ask me if they might take this and that "quacksalve" my answer invariably was, "Yes, while it cures!" And with the Hindu Sepoys themselves, if they desired it, I always called in their priests to administer the ritual "nostrums"; and sometimes they worked miracles—so much depends on faith and will. He adds that the proper protection against the quackery of secret remedies and patent foods is a continuous chemical analysis of them, published every week in the Government Gazette, but without any expository commentary. I should not be surprised if, when Sir Henry Norman reads the above suggestion, he will promptly write to Sir G. Birdwood to give evidence before the Select Committee of the House of Commons which is now inquiring into the question of patent medicines.

A party of Kabuli dealers have lately been selling amunnition in the Mohmand country.

Mr. Manindra Nath Bhattacherjee, the High Court vakil, who fell out of a running train near Serampore station on the East Indian Railway, died last night of the wounds sustained by the fall.

Baby Foulsham.

MR. FRANK FOULSHAM writes: "My little son (7½ months) has been fed from birth on Albulactin and cow's milk. He weighs 21 lbs., and is all bone and muscle. He has never had any digestive trouble or illness, and is always smiling and happy."

BABIES THRIVE PERFECTLY

if you add a little Albulactin to their diluted cow's milk.

It is really wonderful what a difference Albulactin makes to bottle-fed babies! Just get one bottle and see for yourself.

Except human milk, there is nothing else so good for babies—so highly nourishing and easily digestible—as a mixture of Albulactin with diluted animal milk, such as cow's milk, buffalo's milk, goat's milk, etc.

The Hon. Mrs. Tollemache (Ipswich) states: "Baby is doing very well on Albulactin."

The Hon. Mrs. Etches (Russel House, N. Wales) writes: "My baby is thriving upon Albulactin, and I cannot speak too highly in its favour."

Lady Hardinge (wife of the British Minister to Belgium) writes: "My nurse used Albulactin, and it was most successful."

Lady Stamer (Bolton House, Salop) writes: "I have found Albulactin very satisfactory."

The Indian Medical Gazette says: "Albulactin comes to make infant feeding a thing of easy management, since its addition to cow's milk makes the latter so much like human milk. We have given Albulactin a trial, and are perfectly satisfied that the proprietors have not overstated the merits of the preparation."

WRITE FOR FREE BOOK.

Albulactin is sold by all Chemists and in all Bazaars. A valuable book, entitled "King Baby: His Food and Health," giving full information on these subjects, will be sent, free, to every mother who writes, mentioning this paper, to Messrs. A. Wulfing & Co. (of London), Box 226, G.P.O., Bombay.

INDIA IN PARLIAMENT.

The Treatment of Ulaskar Dutt.

In the House of Commons on Monday, Nov. 11. Mr. Snowden asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If Ulaskar Dutt, who was imprisoned in Andamans, is now insane; if the madness has been caused by his treatment in prison; if owing to a refusal to do hard labour, he was made to stand erect with his hands tied to beams; if this treatment was the cause of his madness; and if such treatment of prisoners is approved by the Indian Government.

Mr. H. Baker: The Secretary of State has no information, but has telegraphed to the Government of India for a report.

INDIA OFFICE FINANCE.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne asked the under Secretary of State for India: If he will give the names of the banks and approved borrowers of the cash balances of India, with the maximum sums on deposit with or lent to each respectively, and the total sums on deposit or lent to each respectively, during the years 1908, 1909, 1910, and 1911.

In reply to the first part of the question, Mr. H. Baker has issued a long list of the banks and firms asked for. With regard to the latter part of the question Mr. Baker replied as follows:—The latter part of the question necessitates the classification in a particular form of about 3,000 transactions in the four years, and this could not be completed in the time given. The information is being prepared as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne also asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If he will state whether the figures spectified on Nov. 6 as the maximum sums on deposit and loan to certain borrowers from the cash balances of the Government of India during the past year also represent the total sums advanced during the year to each firm repectively.

Mr. H. Baker: The figures specified on Nov. 6 represent, in accordance with the terms of the hon. member's question of that date, the maximum sum held on any one date in the preceding twelve months from the cash balances by any bank or approved borrower who on Nov. 6 was holding any sum forming part of the 8,950,000. mentioned in the question. They do not represent the total of the succesive loans granted to and repaid by the various firms during the year.

THE GOLD STANDARD RESERVE.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If, in view of the increase in the depreciation in the value of the securities held in the gold standard reserve from 932,7591. on July 31 to 1,064,8241. on Oct. 16, representing a further loss in eleven weeks of 132,065., he has considered the question of realising the securities and henceforth following the recommendations of the Fowler Committee that the reserve should be held in gold, thus increasing confidence and avoiding the risk of further loss and the difficulty of realising, even at depreciated prices on forced sales, should a time of financial stress make it necessary to utilise the reserve.

Mr. H. Bakar: The form of the gold standard reserve is varied from time to time to secure greater ease of realisation, and the matter is constantly considered; but so large a change as the hon. member suggests is not now contemplated. In the period mentioned by the hon. member the depreciation was less than the amount stated. The valuation on July 31 referred to was based, at the request of the hon. member for North Islington, on the middle market price, while that on Oct. 16 was based, in accordance with the India Office practice, on the minimum. If the two calculations had been on the same basis the depreciation in the period mentioned would have been shown as £104,354. I may add that in the same period 143,6881. was received as interest, bringing the total interest receipts to 3,242, £5841.

Mr. Touche asked the Under Secretary of State for India. If he can say what, if any, part of the gold standard reserve is now held in silver.

Mr. H. Baker: The amount so held at Nov. 7 was 4'3 lacs of rupees.

PAPER CURRENCY RESERVE.

Mr. Touche asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If he can say what portion of the paper currency reserve is held out of India.

Mr. H. Baker: The Indian Paper Currency Act provides for the holding of securities and gold by the Secretary of State in Council as part of the reserve, and securities for 2,666,000. and 5,700,000. in gold are so held in this country. The gold is in the custody of the Bank of England.

Mr. H. Baker: As announced by Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson in introducing the financial statement for the current year, additional bills will be sold so far as resources permit, if there is a sufficient demand for them. The answer therefore in the negative.

Mr. Touche further asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If he will say when the coinage of new rupees from purchased silver commenced this year, and how many have been coined.

Mr. H. Baker: Coinage began early in September; 47,900,000 rupees had been coined up to Nov. 9.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If he is aware that a definite offer of silver to the value of approximately £2,000,000. was made to the Government in Calcutta at 25 1-2d. per ounce in January last; and if he will explain why this offer was refused, seeing that silver was purchased shortly afterwards in this country through Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Company at an average price of 28 1-4d.

Mr. H. Baker: The Secretary of State has inquired of the Government of India, who report that they are unable to trace the offer in question. I may add that in January the rupees in the Reserves of the Government of India had not fallen so low as to show that purchases would be required.

Mr. K. Gwynne: Will the hon. gentleman ascertain whether a definite offer was not made on Jan. 5 by the Specie Bank, as referred to in my questione

Mr. H. Baker: If the hon. member will give me further information I will inquire.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne also asked the Under Secretary of Stafe for India: If it has been the practice hitherto for the Bank of England to instruct the brokers to purchase silver for the Government of India; and if he will explain why, if it was considered to be in the public interest to employ a firm of brokers not previously employed, instructions were not given to the Bank of England and the business transacted through them as heretofore.

Mr. H. Baker: The usual practice has been as stated. Instructions were not given to the Bank of England on this occasion, because it had been ascertained from them in 1910 that they had made special arrangements with the two firms of brokers habitually employed by them, and that, until the expiration of those arrangements in 1913, they would prefer not to employ other firms.

Mr. Rupert Gwynne asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If, while Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Company were purchasing silver for the Government they were acting as brokers or dealers.

Mr. H. Baker: As brokers.

Mr. R. Gwynne: Was it definitely stated when the order was given that they were to act as brokers?

Mr. H. Baker: I cannot tell the hon. gentleman that I have answered his question.

Mr. Rupert Gwynen further asked the Under Secretary of State for India: If Sir Felix Schuster is governor of the Union of London and Smiths Bank, with whom the sum of 1,250,000l. of the Indian cash balances was placed on deposit during this year, and is also chairman of the Finance Committee of the Council of India; if he is in receipt of a yearly salary; and if the Finance Comittee advises as to the utilisation of the cash balances as well as the purchases of silver.

Mr. H. Baker: Sir Felix Schuster is governor of the Union of London and Smiths Bank, and had been so for eleven years when he was appointed to the Council of India by Lord Morley in 1906. He has been chairman of the Finance Committee of the India Office since July 1911, and is in receipt of a salary as member of Council. The part taken by the Secretary of State's broker, the Accountant General of the India Office, and the Finance Committee respectively in arranging short loans and deposits from the home balance of the Government of India was stated in replies to questions asked in the House on Nov. 5. The procedure has been approved by successive Secretaries of State and the Council. The fact that the banks with which deposits are made include those with which members of the Council are connected has been specially considered by the Secretary of State in Council and approved by him.

Report has it that the list of military names in the next New Year Honours will be rather a lengthy one and will be headed by H. R. H. Prince Arthur of Connaught, whose promotion to the dignity of a Royal Dukedom has been strangely delayed. His Royal Highness will not be in England at the New Year, as he has decided to winter in Canada with his parents.

In the October number of the "Agricultural Journal of India" Mr. C.E. Low, Director of Agricultural Industries in the Central Provinces has an important article on the alleged decrease in the number of cattle in the country. The theory is constantly being put forward that the supply of agricultural cattle is steadily diminishing and various reasons are given to support the general statements that are made. These may be summarised as the breaking up of grazing grounds, the increase of forest dues, the spread of epidemic disease, and slaughter for food or for the hide trade. Mr. Low taking statistics shows that the supply of cattle in the cropped area is now larger than 20 or 30 years ago. He has to exclude Bengal as the returns for that province are said to be totally unresliable but taking the nett cropped area in all other parts of British India he makes out his case in the most convincing way. In 1885-86 the total number of cattle was just under 54 millions in 1909-10 it had risen to 95 millions. The cropped area meanwhile had risen by 52 1-2 million acres and the population by about 39 millions There may be error of course in these figures but the statistics of the Madras and Bombay Presidencies can be thoroughly relied upon and they show that the progressive increase in the number of cattle is higher than that of population and area under cultivation.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS:—Are you broken in your best by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other cases. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

FOOL WANTED.

A small boy was selling papers at a railway station, where there were some 20 or 30 people waiting for the train.

A comedian standing by called to the newsboy:—

I say, boy, would you like a new job?

Yes, sir, replied the boy. What is it?

Well, said the comedian, my master wants a fool.

Oh, does he? said the newsboy. Is he going to sack you, or keep two?

FARMER AND CHAUFFEUR.

French Chaufeur (to deaf farmer on a Devonshire road)—Can you tell me, sare, vere I get some of ze petrol?

Farmer (with his hand to his ear)—Hey?

French Chauffeur—Non, non, non! Not ze hay; ze petrol. Zis eez a motor car, not a horse.

NAMING THE BABY.

Yes, said Blobson, when I got home there they were—twins. I was simply paralysed. We've named one of them Ann Eliza, but we're up a tree for a name for the other.

Why not call her Paralyzer? suggested Binks.

APPLYING THE CURE.

Two gentlemen who were playing cards at the club recently were very much annoyed by other members who stood behind their chairs and interested themselves in the game. Finally one of the players asked one of the spectators to play the hand for him until he returned.

The spectator took the cards, whereupon the first player left the room. Pretty soon the second player followed the example of the first. The two substitutes played for some time when one of them asked the waiter where the two original players were.

They are playing cards in the next room, sir, was the waiter's reply.

STRIDES OF SCIENCE.

She was a thin and nervous women who could not sleep. She visited her physician, and he said.—

Do you eat anything just before going to bed?

Oh, no doctor, the patient replied.

Well, said the physician, just keep a glass of milk and some biscuits [illegible], and every night, the last thing you do, make a light meal.

But, doctor, cried the lady, you told me on no account to eat anything before retiring.

Pooh, pooh, said the doctor, that was three months ago. Science has made enormous strides since then.

CONFUSED.

Counsel (to witness in bandages)—Are you married?

Witness—No, I was knocked down by a cab last week,

HOW RUDE.

Mrs Nextdore—Professor Adagio called at our house yesterday, and my daughter played the piano for him. He just raved over her playing.

Mrs. Peprey—How rude! Why couln't he conceal his feeling the way the rest of us do?

CUTS BOTH WAYS.

"It's ridiculous for a youngman to get married as soon as he comes of age' said the elderly bachelor.

Think so, do you? said Henpeck, languidly.

Of course! Why, he's scarcely old enough to be his own master.

Well, he isn't if he gets married.

WANTED TO KNOW.

First Student—What makes that red spot on your nose?

Second Student—Glasses.

First Student—Glasses of what?

THE KITTENS OBJECTED.

Henry was very proud of the new kittens, and fetched them to show to the visitors.

His mother heard them coming along the hall, and, alarmed at the noise of the procession, called out, Don't hurt the kittens, Henry.

No, mother, came the reassuring answer, I'm carrying them very carefully by the stems.

LONG SERVICE.

Stout Gent. (to applicant for posts as chapel-cleaner)—Yes, I like your face. How long were you in your last place?

Applicant—Seven years.

Stout Gent—What were you doing there?

Applicant—Seven years.

FINAL.

When a Scotsman answers a question he settles the matter in dispute once for all. On a certain occasion the question was asked—

Why was Mary Queen of Scots born at Linlithgow?

Sandy Kerr promptly answered—

Because her mither was staying there; and there actually seemed to be nothing more to be said on the subject.

HARD ON THE REPORTER.

A good story is told about a certain notorious malefactor, which is calculated to make newspaper reporters uncertain and uneasy as to their ultimate fate.

The criminal had been sentenced to death, and the last penalty of the law was about to be enforced. As he stood on the scaffold while the final arrangements were completed, he shook hands with the governor of the goal, the chaplain, and even the hangman; but to the newspaper man who was present he simply nodded, nonchalantly, saying—

Ta-ta, old man. See you later on!

GRATITUDE.

A little girl was weeping bitterly in the street, greatly to the concern of sympathetic passers-by. At last a benevolent old gentleman approached the little maid, and, patting her on the shoulder, enquired what was the matter.

I've lost a penny, sir, was the reply given between sobs. The old gentleman promptly thrust a hand into his pocket and brought out a penny, which he handed to the little girl.

She looked at him askance for a few minutes, and then remarked, in a tone more of sorrow than anger, Oh, you wicked ole man, so oo had it all the time..

BOTH LOST AND GONE BEFORE.

Yorkshire brass bands and the stories about them exercise the rivalry of the villages. At the Elm Tree Inn in a certain Yorkshire village is told the story of a rival band, in which each member strove for mastery over his particular instrument—more particularly the man with the big drum. They won a prize, and marched, playing, from the station to the halting-place in a side street.

But the big drummer, absorbed in the music-score, his caresses and thumps, missed the turning, and banged his way ahead for a quarter of a mile.

Then he bumped up against a carturned, bewildered—"Has the seen owt o' a brass band?" he asked. 'Ah've lost mine somewhere."

QUITE MISUNDERSTOOD.

A woman went to the Orient, and, coming back, was caught trying to smuggle in a lot of choice silks. She had to pay duty and a fine. Then there was talk of a criminal action to follow. Her son-in-law called on the customs officials.

Is it possible, he asked in a severe tone, after my mother-in-law has paid the duty on the stuff and her fine, that you contemplate criminal action?

We are considering it, the customs official replied gravely.

And if my mother-in-law were to be convicted, as she probably would be, she would have to go to gaol?.

I think so.

Do you mean to tell me you intend to do this to a woman—a woman who has already expiated her fault and recompensed the Government?

I do. But, look here, old chap, don't take this too hard. I've got to do my duty, you know. Don't feel so badly about it.

Badly! shouted the son-in-law Why, my dear sir, this is the first gleam of sunsihne that has entered my home in 20 years.

THAT MOTOR BUS AGAIN.

I tried to warn the man, my, lord, said the chauffeur as he nervously fingered the dock rail, but the horn wouldn't sound.

Then, why didn't you slacken speed instead of running down the poor fellow and killing him?

A light seemed to dawn upon the prisoner.

You've got me there, my lord, he said I never thought of that.

HOW IT'S DONE.

Lady (to shop assistant)—I want a pair of shoes.

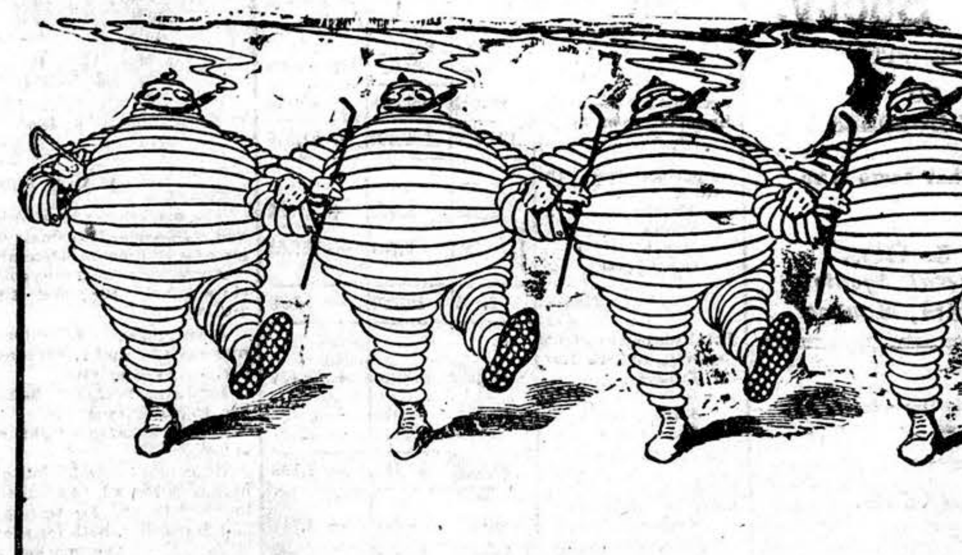
New Shopman—Yes ma'am. What size?

Lady—Size three.

New Shopman—Yes ma'am Just let me measure your foot.

Lady—But I told you the size.

New Shopman—Yes ma'am, but we have three three sizes three; size three for a size three foot, size three for a size four foot, and size three for a size five foot.



The best step to take

if you desire immunity from skidding, puncture, and trouble, is to have the wheels of your car shod with the

"Semelle" Non-Skid.

This cover, which has specially-hardened steel studs projecting well above the tread, with their bases deeply embedded in the rubber, ensures a firm grip on the greasiest of roads. The studs penetrate the grease.

Additional strength is afforded by the band of stout chrome leather, which renders the tyre practically puncture-proof.

MARKET REPORT:—

With the exception of one slight setback on political uneasiness, the home markets have advanced steadily during the past week. There seems little doubt that the general feeling at home is decidedly bullish, and it is quite possible we may see a continuation of the rise for some little time if there is no disturbing political element. At the same time it is difficult to understand the cause of the present advance beyond the fact that sentiment is bullish. The market has been a freak market this season, and has on many occasions gone in direct opposition to sentiment, forecasts, reports and statistics. The unexpected may therefore again occur: but there is no denying the fact that the tendency of the market at the moment is upwards and that chances are in favour of a further rise. The American markets were closed yesterday for a holiday. Liverpool repots a steady and unchanged market, yesterday at the close, though early in the day prices declined 5 to 6 points. Private telegrams state that the consumption in America will be 5,750,000 bales minimum against 5,200,000 bales last year. and that crop estimates are being reduced.

The following are comparison of prices in the Home markets as shown by the telegrams received here last Friday morning and to-day:—

The advance in the local market has been in no way proportionate to the rise at home. On Friday evening last good Broach stood at Rs. 313 1-2, fine Khamgaon Akola January at Rs. 310, and fine M. G. Bengal January Rs. 281. The greater part of the week the market remained steady at about these rates. Yesterday morning prices for these descriptions were Rs. 316, Rs. 314 and Rs. 285 respectively, and to-day the market opens Re. 1 to Rs. 2 higher. There has been a fair enquiry for for ward delivery during the week. For Japan the demand has run chiefly on Oomars styles for January and February. Mills have bought Oomars, Bengals and Muthis, and the bazaar has also been buying occasionally. At times sellers have shown more disposition to operate, but the steady advance in prices at home has now caused them to hesitate. There is still little enquiry from the Continent, but prices here are nearer home parities and a demand may spring up at any moment.

For ready cotton there has been a good demand, and prices have advanced. Fine Bengal has sold at Rs. 288 to Rs. 290 and superfine lots at about Rs. 298, to Rs. 300. Ready fine Khandeish has changed hands at Rs. 307 to Rs. 309 and khawgaon style at Rs. 315 to Rs. 318. Receipts are still very moderate, and as long as this continues prices are not likely to give way. The market closed firm with prices about Rs. 2 higher.

Reports from up country regarding the recent rain are satisfactory. It is generally stated that little or no damage has been done to the standing cotton crops, and that on the whole the condition has improved and a longer yield is expected to result later on. The weather is now clear and cool and all crops are doing well. Reports from Broach are very satisfactory.

LATER.

The market firmed up during the day and at Colaba business was done in good Broach at Rs. 320. There has been a good inquiry for contracts and a fair business has been done. Rates at the close are irregular.

FREIGHTS.

The market has been dull during the past week and we have only a small business to report. Rates for near shipments (December) are declining.

ANTWERP:—350 tons cotton and hemp for ready shipment at 19s., and 134 tons barley ready at 19s. 3d.

MARSEILLES:—1,000 tons, gram, December shipment at 19s. and 1,000 tons wheat, also for December, at the same rate.

DUNKIRK:—2,000 tons crushed bones December, to February at 20s.

HULL:—600 tons light seeds at 16s. 6d, barley at 18s.

HAMBURG:—Small lots of light seed for February March at 18s. 3d. An outside steamer booked 600 tons light seeds for this part at 17s. 6d. and also 350 Marseilles, both for prompt shipment.

The market closes dull.

FIXTURES:—The following fixtures are reported "BALUCHISTAN" Bombay to Middlesboro with Ore, at 23s. December.

RIVER PLATE: Bombay to Dunkirk with Ore, at 23s. December.

"SEENBERGEN." Bombay to Antwerp via Hull at 22s. dead weight, December.

SEEDS AND WHEAT.

LINSEED:—

There has been a continuance of the downward movement in the home market. La Plata seed has been offering freely and a large crop is expected. The late rains up country have improved the prospects of the Indian Crop. The local market has been quiet with little business doing and prices are 4 to 5 annas per cwt. lower for forward delivery, and about 4 annas lower for ready. The tendency seems to be for still easier prices unless there is an improvement in the demand from home. Last night a moderate business was done here for forward delivery.

LOCAL YARNS.

The market has been firm during the week owing to the advance in cotton, and prices of yarns are improving. A moderate business has been done in 10s., 12s. and 20s., aggregating about 10,000 bales, and the market closes strong with a tendency to a further advance, and a continuance of enquiry for 10s. and 20s.

IMPORTS.
PIECE-GOODS.

WHITE GOODS: The market continues steady with a moderate demand.

GREY GOODS: The market is firm and there is a better demand for these goods.

PRINTS AND DYED GOODS: The market is steady and the demand is fairly good. Forward business has been done to some extent as buyers are of opinion that they are not likely to get in at cheaper prices by waiting any longer.

TURKEY RED PLAIN GOODS: The Bombay market is quiet and prices realized are poor. The home market is firm and prices have advanced. Only distant deliveries are obtainable.

TURKEY RED PRINTS: The market is quiet but steady with a small business doing.

Dhooties: The home market is very steady and prices are higher. For forward delivery the shipment offered is distant. The Bombay market is quiet with a poor demand.

METALS.

COPPER AND YELLOW METAL. Our market has become somewhat quieter owing to the weaker advices from home.

COAL MARKET.

The market within the past few days has shewn, if anything, a rather firmer tone and rates have again slightly advanced. This may possibly be owing to labour difficulties at the Collieries.

MANCHESTER WEEKLY REPORT.

Messrs. James F. Hutton and Co., Ltd, write from Manchester, on Thursday 7th November, the following weekly report:—

Cotton Figures from August 31st last to last Friday	Bales this year.	Bales last year.
Liverpool Stock. All kinds of cotton	643,090	403,520
Liverpool Stock. American cotton	508,040	307,180
American Del'd Spinners for the week	364,000	419,000
American into sight for the week	716,000	655,000
American into sight for the season	4,407,000	4,870,000
Receipts at American Ports ...	3,880,000	3,489,000
Visible Supply. All kinds of cotton	4,396,000	3,553,000
Visible Supply. American cotton	3,567,000	2,018,000
Visible Supply. Egyptian cotton	298,000	184,000
Visible Supply. East Indian cotton	61,000	53,000
Visible Supply. Other kinds of cotton	120,000	76,000

During the week ending at the date of our last report, which opened with Liverpool spot American cotton at 6.16, an advance of 20 points had occurred up to the publication of Messrs. Neill Bros. crop estimate on the 30th ultimo, giving Mr. Larmuth Neill's figures as 13,970,000 bales maximum for the present American crop, upon which Liverpool advanced a further 14 points to 6.50d. for spot, while New York advanced 20 points on the same day to 11.55 cents. We mentioned last week, 14 1-2 millions as a minimum American crop, and the consumption of spinners at the same figure for the present season, while the latter was estimated by Messrs. Neill Bros. at 14 3-4 millions, which would absorb 750,000 bales of surplus American cotton. This report is decidedly "bullish" but cannot be taken as final, there may be improvement in weather conditions for instance before the picking season is over in some of the Cotton districts. Again last year Messrs. Neill's estimate at this time was 15 millions bales minimum, and the crop came out over 16 millions, which goes to prove that although Mr. L. Neill travels over the cotton states, it is not easy, especially with a large crop, to obtain an absolutely reliable estimate in October.

Further the reported frosts in the south western states have evidently not been severe enough to damage the crop, or we should have had confirmations and no doubt as usual exaggerations. Failing these we may take it that the season in texas and Oklahoma and the lower Mississipi Valley continues favourable, and consequently there cannot now fail to be a considerable top crop, which circumstance rather warrants our holding on to a minimum estimate of 14 1-2 millions. There are larger estimates put forward reaching to 15 millions and probably somewhere between these two points will be realised estimates below 14 millions are also published, but they do not appear to be regarded either here or at New York with serious attention.

The weather scares and Mr. L. Neill's crop scare on the top of already strong and advancing cotton markets had caused during the past week further considerable advances in cotton, and in yarns up to last evening, of 35 cents at New York, 29 points at Liverpool, and about 1-2d. per lb. in yarns, while Piece goods generally are stronger and dearer in various degrees according to the position of the manufacturer.

The Egyptian crop, after allowing for a decrease in the third picking as compared with last year, is now estimated by the Alexandria Produce Association at 7 3-4 million cantars, and the second official memorandum on the India crop of 1912-13, shows an increase in area of 1,100,000 acres above last year, the general condition of the crop is fair to good, rain being wanted in parts of the Bombay Presidency, and of the Punjab and Hyderabad. This morning we stand 66 points up for Liverpool American spot in a fortnight, and 43 points as compared with a week ago, and these advances must be considered greater than warranted by actual information as to the weather and crop estimates, so that we hope the prices will go back again at least part of the way, and consequently it is better not to rush into buying just now, but to watch the market. Merchants on this side regard with scepticism the rise of 3-4d. per lb. in cotton in 3 weeks, and have stopped buying, generally speaking, pending further developments.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

London, Nov. 15.

At a moment when imaginative persons are drawing tragic contrasts between the staid and decorous procedure of the House of Lords and the "rowdiness" of the Lower Chamber, it is consoling to find that in 1666 Lord Dorchester and the Duke of Buckingham were sent to the Tower for fighting during a debate. In 1829 the three Royal dukes—Clarence, Cumberland, and Sussex—attacked each other, using language not merely "un-Parliamentary" but unprintable. Some lively "scenes" occurred also during the years following the Reform Bill. In our own time a highly animated "scene" took place between two prelates, Bishop Magee and Archbishop Tait.

The cablegrams of the recent American elections unanimously ignored the result of the poling for the coronership of Suffolk County, Long Island. Yet that item was perhaps the most curious single incident of the whole struggle. The poll was headed by the Democratic candidate, Dr. Robert G. Cornwell, who held a unique electoral record, for he had been defeated at sixteen previous biennial contests for this post. As a New York paper explains: "The Wilson landslide proved too much for him, and last night he succumbed to victory." This opinion is confirmed by the third assistant freight agent at the local railway station, who is reported as saying: "It's all on account of Wilson. Dr. Cornwell knows that we boys didn't mean no harm. He understands and forgives. But it must be a stunning blow.

From a contribution signed "A. T. W." in a recent number of "Notes and Queries" it appears that the contents, in very microscopic handwriting, of a tiny book described in the catalogue of the Bodleian Library as "The Smallest M. S. in the Library." have at last been deciphered. The book has been in the library for more than two centuries and a half; its pages measure three-quarters of an inch in length and three-quarters of an inch in breadth; it is bound in black leather with silver corners; and it is attached to a chain and kept in a red leather box. The pages are covered with very minute shorthand. An enthusiastic stenographic expert has identified it as a sermon transcribed by a famous seventeenth-century practitioner of the art, Jeremiah Rich, who boasted that he could write so small that his pen could scarcely be seen to move. These feats were more common in those days than in our own. It appears that the same penman presented Charles II. with another specimen of his skill—a copy of the same sermon, written on fine paper, bound in crimson "with silver clasps and corners," the book and its covers being "less than the nail of his little finger." The whereabouts of this curiosity are unknown. It is one of those books that are not intended to be read; but it may have been preserved.

In an exceedingly interesting book just published—"Steamship Conquest of the World," by Frederick A. Talbot—we find some statements about icebergs. While the mariner has no infallible means of detecting the immediate presence of ice there are certain signs which may assist him to discover his enemy. As a rule, before the ice is seen from the deck of a vessel its proximity is indicated by the "blink." This is caused by the reflection of the rays of light from the sun or the moon. Under good weather conditions a berg may be seen from a considerable distance. Similarly on a clear night it may be discerned by the effulgence or light radiated from the mass, while in foggy weather it may by picked up by its apparent blackness, if such a term may be used, as the outline is revealed in a deep shadow through the whiteness of the mist. If the horn or siren is sounded a berg may be discovered and its distance calculated approximately, the time elapsing between the blast of the whistle and the echo multiplied by 550 will give the distance of the peril. Thus, if two seconds elapse between the blast and the eacho, and 550 is multiplied by 2, the result—1,100—represents the distance in feet between the berg and the ship. Icebergs often reveal themselves by the sounds produced as they break up, while the absence of swell, or wave motion, in a fresh breeze is an indication of land or ice on the weather side. The appearance of herds of seals, or flocks of birds, far from land betrays the proximity of ice, while a fall in the temperature of the atmosphere and also of the water under certain conditions are useful guides. None of these indications, however, are infallible. The iceberg has certain uses, though these do not affect the luxurious and modern and speedy liner. Occasionally tramps, when traversing the field, seize the opportunity for obtaining a stock of ice for their refrigerators, for which purpose it is admirably fitted. If a gale is raging an icefield will form an excellent lee in which to ride safely, as the field will break up the force of the sea like a breakwater. But the Navigator must not dare to approach too closely, because the edge, if it should strike the ship, invariably will crush in its sides like an egg-shell. The bergs are propelled on their southward journey almost entirely by the current, and often they will force their way through immense fields of heavy ice. A captain often will at acn his boat to the drifting berg with a substantial ice-anchor and a strong tow-line. In this way he may be towed through the obstruction in safety.

The declaration of the Home Office that theatre queues "had a kind of prescriptive status" reminds one that there were early birds of playgoers away back in the seventeenth century. Pepys, for instance, engaged a man to keep his place. Thus, in may 1668: "To the Duke of York's playhouse at a little past 12 to get a good place in the pit for the new play, and then getting a poor man to keep my place, I out and spent an hour at Martin's my bookseller's, and so, back again, when I found the house quite full. But I had my place" That such foresight was necessary is proved by the fact that over 1,000 patrons were turned away from the theatre an hour before the rise of the curtain on the first performance of Sir George Etherege's "She Would if She Could."

A provisional committee has been constituted to establish in Paris a college of athletes for the study of questions relating to physical education, training, and the physiology of exercise. It will, according to the "Lancet", be a training school for civil and military instructors and for specialist physicians. Chosen athletes selected with an eye to championships will be trained there. A central college is to be built in the environs of Paris, with annexes in the provinces, to study more in detail the racial qualities of each locality. The college will be situated on about twelve acres of ground, on which will be erected a vast stadium, where all athletic sports can be practised in the open air. In its centre will be a swimming pool 100 metres in length. A huge building will be built near the stadium to allow of the practice of all sports in bad weather. Grass spaces also will be constructed for games and sports. Competitions may be organised later in which prominent athletes can meet.

The lunar symbol of the Ottoman Empire, universally known as the Crescent, is, strictly speaking a decrescent, representing, as it does, not the new moon, but the old moon. As a national symbol it was in use in Constantinople by the Byzantines eighteen centuries before the Turks appropriated it and emblazoned it on their banners when they captured the city on the Bosphorus; and its origin is said to date from B. C. 340, when a night attack on ancient Byzantium by the Macedonians was foiled by the light of the old and waning moon. The horns of the crescent and decrescent point in opposite directions, as do those of the old and new moon, and while the crescent moon increases progressively to the splendour of full moon, the decrescent slowly wanes to invisibility in the overpowering light of the sun. The Turkish decrescent has been a long time waning in Europe, but it is the inevitable destiny of all decrescent moons to disappear,

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S., Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for 'long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD

This remarkable compound, the latest discovery of modern times for all phases of brain and nerve wreckage and exhaustion, sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, &c., whether induced by worry, overwork, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excesses, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or over-strain of modern life. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to those who had so recently seemed played out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, blood poison, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, wounds, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground. Registered Trade Mark, "VETARZO."
Sole Proprietors: THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., GOSPEL OAK, LONDON, ENGLAND.
Legal proceedings will be taken against all persons infringing the Proprietors' rights.
COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A NEW medical work on certain vitally important matters with which every young man should be acquainted. Post free in plain sealed envelope on receipt of Postal Order sixpence from THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Agents for South Africa: LENNON LTD. DR. DE ROOS' MEDICINES HAVE AN UNRIVALLED REPUTATION OF OVER FIFTY YEARS.

DR. DE ROOS'

WORLD-FAMED

GUTTÆ VITÆ

Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from premature decay, or deficiency of the vital forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm: the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per Bottle.

DR. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

DR. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. Price 13½d. and 2s. 9d.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

Debilitated and Nervous Sufferers should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. De Roos, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. Lawes, Medical Publisher, 14, Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or of the Agents for Dr. De Roos' Medicines.

While you wait—five, ten, or fifteen minutes—the natural digestive processes of Benger's Food are working.

You can regulate this Food in preparation, so as to give the enfeebled stomach, at first almost complete rest; and you can increase, day by day, as health becomes restored, the amount of work left for it to do.

BENGER'S FOOD

is thus adjustable to individual cases, an advantage that belongs to no other food. It forms with milk a dainty and delicious cream. Infants thrive on it, delicate and aged persons enjoy it.

Every householder should possess a copy of "Benger's Food, and How to Use It—For Infants, Invalids, and the Aged." Post Free from:—

KEATINGS LOZENGES
cure the worst Cough

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING

from any such disease as ECZEMA, SCROFULA, BAD LEGS, ABSCESSES, ULCERS, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS, BOILS, PIMPLES, SORES OF ANY KIND, PILES, BLOOD POISON, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, etc., don't waste your time and money on useless lotions and messy ointments which cannot get below the surface of the skin. What you want and what you must have to be permanently cured is a medicine that will thoroughly free the blood of the poisonous matter which alone is the true cause of all your suffering.

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE.

THE WORLD FAMED BLOOD PURIFIER

is just such a medicine. It is composed of ingredients which quickly attack, overcome, and expel from the blood all impurities from whatever cause arising, and by rendering it clean and pure can be relied on to effect a complete and lasting cure.

Here is good proof of its efficacy:—

POISONED FOOT CURED

"Some time ago I had an accident to my left foot (ran a nail into it), it festered, and got so bad that the doctor was called in and said I had poisoned it. For 3 years I was under different doctors and for one year of the three I only went out in a bath chair. Not only during that time did I entirely lose the little toe of my left foot, but a gaping wound came in the inside of the same foot. It was so bad that when I bathed it I fancied I could see the bones. At last I decided to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and with the end of the second small bottle the discharge had stopped, and within a month I could get my foot to the ground. It is as well now as it ever was, of course, very scarred and a toe short, but I am sure I should have been a foot short had it gone on."

"WORTH £5 A DOSE"

"I also recommended it to a Surgeant's wife at Aldershot, whose husband had an open sore for seven years, the result of a sword thrust in Burma. She said she couldn't get him to try it for a long time, but at last he did, and the wound has completely healed. She told me that often after a long march he has writhed in agony and often fainted. When they were leaving to go to another station he came on purpose to say good-bye and thank me. He said he'd never forget me for being the cause of his trying it, and that it was worth £5 a dose.—Yours truly, (Mrs.) M. Cousins, 187 Twyford avenue, Portsmouth," England.

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE

By reason of its wonderful Blood purifying properties CURES ALL SKIN & BLOOD DISEASES.
